

Christmas Peace Marred By Wars, Tension

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Millions of persons around the world made last-minute preparations today to celebrate Christmas.

Although the message of the birth of Jesus Christ is "Peace on Earth," the wars the world had with it last year remained in Vietnam and Nigeria. The Mideast situation remained unsettled.

Three loud explosions rattled windows today in Bethlehem, the birthplace of Christ. One Israeli official said they could have been caused by supersonic aircraft.

It is the hilltop city's third Christmas under Israeli rule, and in the shade of the Church of the Nativity scores of Israeli security agents mingled with the Christmas pilgrims. One estimate said more than 1,000 troops and police were on duty in the town.

In Vietnam, the allied commanders and the Viet Cong observed cease-fires. Fighting had been at a low level for several weeks, and after the truce began it dropped off even more.

Radio Hanoi began broadcasting recorded messages from American prisoners of war to their families, as it has done in past years.

Soldiers in Vietnam and at other U.S. military installations in the Far East, Europe and the United States gave Christmas parties for children at orphanages and hospitals.

Christmas in the United States is quieter this year than last. In 1968, the Apollo 8 astronauts were circling the moon, and the crew of the spy ship Pueblo was coming home after 11 months of captivity.

As usual, shoppers jammed the stores to make those down-to-the-wire purchases from stocks that have dwindled steadily since Thanksgiving. Department store officials said revenue was higher than last year, but many attributed the increase to higher prices brought on by inflation rather than additional volume.

Hundreds of thousands flocked to airports, railroad stations and bus terminals, heading home to see relatives and families or taking vacations.

Many of them will find a white Christmas. A snowstorm blanketed the Midwest and the U.S. Weather Bureau forecast snow for the Northeast. The bureau also said there was snow in the Pacific Northwest, northern California and inland to Utah and the Rockies.

The Vietnam Moratorium Committee took note of the holiday theme of peace and scheduled a series of Christmas Eve vigils. The observance in New York includes a candlelight procession to Central Park with Mayor John V. Lindsay and other political leaders scheduled to participate.

In Europe, the festive season was sneezed with flu but in full swing: French fishermen put 23,000 tons of oysters on the market. A merchant in West Germany peddled gold-plated ski bindings. Italians battled strikes and traffic jams. Rain-soaked Britons streamed out of the country by the thousands.

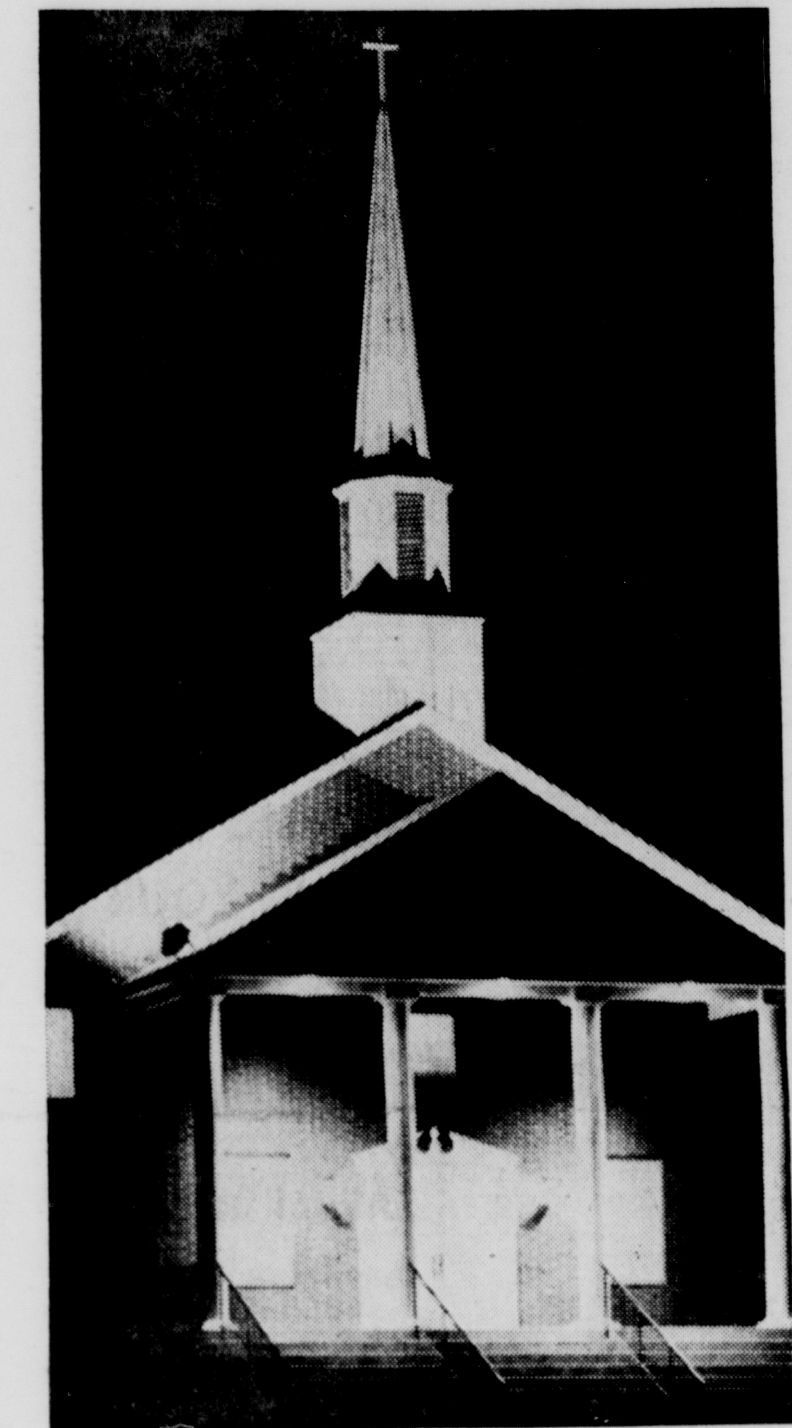

In Paris, the Champs-Elysees was dazzling in white lights and a department store displayed a giant moon on its roof.

Last-minute buyers thronged shops in Germany despite grumbling that the traditional German Christmas is becoming commercialized. Dealers reported business was up 10 to 40 per cent over last year.

Italy seemed to be facing the bleakest Christmas in Western Europe. Strikes left Italians with less money in their pockets and few Christmas bonuses.

A Norwegian church campaign to decommercialize Christmas was a flop. Christmas presents were bigger and costlier than ever, mainly because a revised tax system in January will push up the price of such things as refrigerators, cars and TV sets. Car salesmen say sales in December have been the highest ever.

Christmas shopping was no problem in Madrid. The Spaniards don't give presents until Jan. 6—Epiphany—but Christmas (Continued on Page 2)

Santa's On Way To Homes Of All Good Children!

Santa Claus is on his way at last!

The jolly old Saint and his favorite reindeer are zooming through the arctic skies right now, heading for the American border. He'll reach it tonight.

The northern lights switched on to a clear, steady green—the "go ahead" signal. And the Royal Canadian Mounted Police sent Santa this message:

"We are clearing all air lanes in your path, old boy. There is no speed limit for you tonight. The sky is yours. Go as fast as you like. Good Luck!"

And Santa needed that wide, clear road in the sky. For his big red sled was packed so full of gifts it overflowed. It looked like a ray rack zooming through the crisp air.

"Oh dear, oh dear," worried Santa, just before the takeoff. "I do hope none of these presents falls out and beans some poor innocent for this must be the heaviest load I've had in twenty years."

"What is it he is fretting about?" whispered Donner to Vixen. "He's only riding that sled. We have to pull it."

Winter Storm Makes Way To East Coast

Bitter Cold Settles Behind Weather Front

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A winter storm that hobbled portions of the Midwest in hub-cup-deep snows spilled over the Eastern seaboard today whitening the region from Pennsylvania to Maine.

Bitter-cold weather settled in behind the storm and dropped temperatures to zero or below across much of the western Great Lakes area.

Warnings to travelers were in effect for parts of Kentucky, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, New York, Rhode Island and Massachusetts. Winds accompanying the snow produced drifting and reduced visibilities.

In churning through the Northeast, the storm fell on a region already laden with 6 to 18 inches of snow from a weekend storm.

Six inches or more of fresh snow piled up across the southern tier of New York. Cold air sweeping over the eastern Great Lakes kicked up occasional snow squalls in Pennsylvania and New York.

Wet weather lingered in the Pacific Northwest. Rain splattered coastal areas from central California northward and snow fell in mountain sections.

Travelers warnings were in effect for the northern California Sierra and the Oregon mountains for heavy snow. Gale warnings remained in effect along the northern California and Washington coasts.

Light snow fell in the northern central Rockies and ranged eastward into the northern plains and upper Great Lakes.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 20 below zero at Pellston, Mich., to 68 at Corpus Christi, Tex.

Drinking Water Doesn't Have Kick Anymore

CINCINNATI (AP) — Drinking water still doesn't taste great in suburban Silverton today but it doesn't have a kick in it either.

The Cincinnati Waterworks Tuesday flushed out water mains in the area after residents complained of wine in the tapwater.

Waterworks Director Charles Bolton said an investigation indicated the water came from Meier's Wine Cellar, a winery in the suburban city. He said pressure hoses used for cleaning wine vats had somehow become reversed. As a result an unknown amount of wine was pumped into the water system.

Bolton said the health department warned the wine firm to make corrections in their equipment. Cincinnati water, pumped from the Ohio River, has a high content of chlorine and other chemicals in it.

Cincinnati Attorney Given Judgeship

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — George W. Bunyon Jr., a Cincinnati attorney for 17 years, was appointed a judge of Hamilton County Municipal Court Tuesday by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Bunyon, a Republican, takes office Dec. 29, succeeding the late Judge William Lovelace. Bunyon has been chief deputy of the Army Procurement Agency for the Cincinnati area since 1951.

Families Get Word From POWs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cards or letters from 131 American prisoners of war in North Vietnam have brought tears of joy in homes around the nation. Some families learned for the first time that their men were alive and well.

The four children of Maj. Donald Odell had gone out Christmas caroling in Mount Clemens, Mich., Tuesday but quit because of the bitter cold. Then came word that their father, missing for 26 months, was reported alive and well.

"After those kids got the news, there was no stopping them," said their jubilant mother, Mrs. Shirley Odell. "They're back in the cold telling the neighbors their dad's all right and their hearts out up and down the block."

It had been 18 months since

Air Force 2nd Lt. Michael T. Burns, 25, was shot down over North Vietnam, and his parents in Warsaw, Ind., knew nothing except that he had been seen landing safely.

Then his name appeared on the list made public Tuesday by two women leaders of the anti-war movement just back from North Vietnam.

"I couldn't think of anything we'd like better than this," said his father, John B. Burns. "This is the time of year for things like this to happen."

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman said all four of the names had appeared on previous lists of prisoners. He declined to say which four names were new, or reveal the names of five men that North Vietnam reported are dead.

Many of the families on the list said they had not heard from their men previously or had not had word in months.

Mrs. Gwen Schweitzer of Lemoore, Calif., wept with relief when she received a crude card from her husband, Navy Cmdr. Robert Schweitzer, 37, who was shot down two years ago with no word since.

Most of the letters were mailed by the two women anti-war leaders when they returned from North Vietnam Sunday night. They told a news conference in San Francisco that the North Vietnamese wanted the letters mailed in the United States "to ensure their delivery" or Christmas.

Cora Weiss of New York, a national coordinator of Women Strike for Peace, and Madeline "Duckie" of Berkeley Calif., West Coast head of the Committee of Responsibility, said they were invited to North Vietnam by the Vietnam Women's Union.

The women said they were permitted to interview three captured pilots.

During their conversation the pilots "spoke very highly of the antiwar movement... and very militantly against the war," she said.

The women also visited a detention camp in Hanoi that they said was clean and where the Americans were being well treated and better fed than most Vietnamese.

American officials have complained that prisoners are not allowed to receive or send mail and packages but Mrs. Weiss said: "We have every reason to believe that difficulty with respect to the mail will be eased."

Find Swiss Bank Accounts Cloak Payoffs To Red Spies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has evidence that secret Swiss bank accounts have been used to cloak payoffs to American military personnel who supplied U.S. intelligence information to foreign powers.

Defense Department representatives, it was learned, were to testify to that fact at a House

Banking Committee hearing Dec. 12 on a bill aimed at halting the illegal use of secret foreign bank accounts by U.S. citizens.

The hearing was postponed until sometime next year, but committee members received an advance copy of the formal department testimony before the postponement. The testimony said, among other things, that the Defense Department was in "complete accord" with the secret foreign bank account bill.

"Foreign numbered accounts pose a security threat to the Department of Defense in that they may be used to support foreign agents targeted against the military establishment or they may be used to conceal payments to U.S. personnel recruited by foreign intelligence services," the testimony said.

The Defense Department representative testified further that the Pentagon officials would cooperate fully with the Treasury Department in enforcing the secret foreign bank account bill after its enactment.

They may never get the chance.

Even as the Defense Department testimony was being drafted, the Nixon administration, led by the Treasury Department, was backing down from its support for the bill. It was under pressure from domestic and foreign banking leaders who objected to the stringent new record-keeping practices provided for in the measure.

The House Banking Committee, chaired by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., held a day of hearings on secret foreign bank accounts late last year. It was disclosed at that time that the accounts are used to cloak hundreds of millions of dollars in tax evasions and frauds every year.

Patman and other committee members began drafting legislation—with the help of Nixon administration officials—to curb the practice.

Helmandollar Is Fired

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A sequel to the recent gambling conspiracy trial in U.S. District Court here came Tuesday when Safety Director Fred Simon fired Sgt. Melvin Helmandollar.

Helmandollar was the police officer who testified in the case of eight policemen and a reputed numbers racket operator under grant of immunity. He had testified he received "gifts" from known gamblers.

Charges of insubordination were filed by Police Chief Robert Baus after Helmandollar allegedly failed to answer questions about his testimony.

Helmandollar said he plans an appeal to the Civil Service Commission.

A federal court jury found all eight policemen and the alleged gambler innocent of the charges that they conspired to protect the numbers racket in Columbus.

Arab Summit Meet Collapses

Nasser Reports Lack Of Progress

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Another attempt at Arab unity failed Tuesday night as the fifth Arab summit conference collapsed.

"It seems to me the conference has produced nothing at all," Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser told the Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram. "I believe the conference has not shouldered its responsibilities."

Leaders of 14 Arab states and the Palestine guerrilla movement met for three days to plan a unified strategy against Israel, but broke up in disarray without making any decision. It was their biggest setback since Israel's victory in the 1967 war.

The only accomplishment reported was agreement to contribute at least $19 million to the Palestine Liberation Organization, the guerrilla movement. But conference sources said Yasser Arafat, the guerrilla chief, was promised this in private meetings on the fringe of the conference, not as part of the conference itself.

The presidents and kings ended the meeting without issuing a communique, the first time this has happened at an Arab summit.

King Hassan II of Morocco, the conference host, told a news conference that disagreement over whether to pursue a political settlement with Israel was "one of the reasons why we did not want to issue a communique." Other sources said no communique was issued because the leaders couldn't agree on any concrete action.

Nasser demanded men, weapons and more money from other Arab countries to help Egypt in its fight against Israel. He got nowhere.

One significant development was that Algerian President Houari Boumedienne lined up with the moderates instead of the "revolutionary camp" in which he was once one of the loudest talkers. He offered to deliver most of his Soviet weapons to the war front but advocated that the Palestine guerrillas carry most of the burden of the war against Israel.

Rhodes Pal Suspended By Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The chairman of the State Personnel Board of Review, a long-time friend and appointee of Gov. James A. Rhodes, was suspended from the practice of law Tuesday by the Ohio Supreme Court.

The high court said the chairman, attorney Earl W. Allison, was, by his own admission, guilty of mishandling funds entrusted to him by clients.

Specifically, Allison was accused of converting to his own use a $10,000 trust put in his hands while representing Lois Rhinehart Shelton in a divorce case.

The court said the action was a breach of the legal code of professional ethics and "misconduct," and suspended Allison from law practice indefinitely.

The Ohio Board of Commissioners on Grievances and Discipline had recommended permanent disbarment.

The court, however, noted that full restitution had been made.

Allison, for many years Franklin County prosecutor, was appointed by Rhodes Nov. 18, 1964, and reappointed May 17, 1967.

There was no immediate comment on the decision from Rhodes' office.

Congress Ends Lengthy And Unproductive Session

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The first session of the 91st Congress has ended after one of the longest but least productive legislative efforts in recent times.

The Democratic-controlled Congress gave President Nixon only a handful of the major proposals he sent to the Capitol during his first year in office.

Action on about 25 of his most important recommendations was left over for what promises to be a jam-packed 1970 session opening on Jan. 19.

Democratic leaders insisted, however, that one key measure, the massive tax and Social Security bill, was enough to make the 1969 session one to remember.

The lawmakers also cleared a major $4.8 billion housing bill, the most stringent coal mine safety measure ever passed, a draft law revision which permitted Nixon to institute a lottery system, and extensions of the surtax which the administration sought to fight inflation.

Senators easily confirmed Nixon's choice of Judge Warren E. Burger as Chief Justice of the United States, then handed the President a stiff rebuff by rejecting his nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. for a second opening on the Supreme Court. Nixon indicated he will send a new nomination to the Senate early in 1970.

Not acted on were the President's proposals to deal with problems of crime, spreading drug use, reform of the welfare system, revenue-sharing with the states and cities, reorganization of the postal system, mass transit subsidies, new foreign trade policies, and many others.

But the legislators, who barely finished Tuesday in time to take it home by Christmas Eve, left with the President's good wishes.

Nixon went to the Capitol for lunch with congressional leaders in a last-minute goodwill gesture.

But the general good feeling did not prevent House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan from calling the 1969 session a "do-little, stick-in-the-mud assembly."

There undoubtedly will be political arguments in next year's congressional elections and perhaps in the 1972 national elections as to responsibility for the record of the 1969 Congress.

Administration officials charged that Congress dragged its feet throughout the year implying the Democrats did not want to give a GOP administration credit for solving important national problems.

Democratic leaders answered that Congress did work hard and laid the groundwork for a much more respectable record in the second session of the 91st.

They charged also that Nixon took three months to revise former President Lyndon B. Johnson's last budget, which delayed appropriations bills, and sent up some of his major recommendations so late there was no possible chance to consider them adequately in 1969.

Nixon issued a rash of veto threats in the closing days of the session, souring relations between the White House and Democrats on Capitol Hill.

Conferees on the tax bill made changes to meet some of Nixon's objections to that measure, and Republican leaders later said they were sure he would sign it.

They voiced the same opinion on the mine safety legislation, even though the President assailed the cost of one provision.

Nixon also announced he would veto the $19.7 billion money bill for the Health, Education and Welfare and the Labor Departments. This contained $1 billion more for education than asked.

Air Force 2nd Lt. Michael T. Burns, 25, was shot down over North Vietnam, and his parents in Warsaw, Ind., knew nothing except that he had been seen landing safely.

Then his name appeared on the list made public Tuesday by two women leaders of the anti-war movement just back from North Vietnam.

"I couldn't think of anything we'd like better than this," said his father, John B. Burns. "This is the time of year for things like this to happen."

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman said all but four of the names had appeared on previous lists of prisoners. He declined to say which four names were new, or reveal the names of five men that North Vietnam reported are dead.

Many of the families on the list said they had not heard from their men previously or had not had word in months.

Mrs. Gwen Schweitzer of Lemoore, Calif., wept with relief when she received a crude card from her husband, Navy Cmdr. Robert Schweitzer, 37, who was shot down two years ago with no word since.

Most of the letters were mailed by the two women anti-war leaders when they returned from North Vietnam Sunday night. They told a news conference in San Francisco that the North Vietnamese wanted the letters mailed in the United States "to ensure their delivery or Christmas."

The women said they were permitted to interview three captured pilots.

The women also visited a detention camp in Hanoi that they said was clean and where the Americans were being well treated and better fed than most Vietnamese.

American officials have complained that prisoners are not allowed to receive or send mail and packages but Mrs. Weiss said: "We have every reason to believe that difficulty with respect to the mail will be eased."

Congress . . .

Another veto threat on a catch-all final appropriations measure was effective. It led the Senate to reverse itself and kill a rider which would have blocked an administration plan to open more construction jobs to blacks.

By far the longest Senate debate of the year came on authorizations for military spending.

Defense Department critics lost the major effort to force a pause in development of the missile defense system. But they contended the protracted look at Pentagon programs did lay the basis for future cutbacks on military outlays.

Early in the session the Senate overwhelmingly ratified a major treaty—the nuclear non-proliferation pact.

The 1969 Congress compiled the worst record ever in delays on the 14 money bills needed to run the government for the fiscal year which began last July 1.

The bulk of the federal agencies did not know what funds they would have for fiscal 1970 until it was almost half over.

In the final analysis, Congress cut the President's requests by more than $7 billion on the fiscal 1970 bills.

However, some of these funds will be spent in future years. Congressional fiscal experts claimed only a $3 billion reduction in actual spending for the current year.

In addition to the HEW-Labor money bill, one other appropriations measure was put over for final action in January—the $2.6 billion foreign aid bill.

It was a good year for Congress in one respect: the 100 Senators and 435 House members got the benefit of a 41.7 percent salary increase in February. This pay jumped from $30,000 to $42,000 a year.

Sentence Woman As Drug Pusher

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mrs. Mary Jo "Mom" Briede, 45, today began serving a 20-40 year sentence in the Ohio Women's Reformatory for conviction of violating narcotics laws.

Judge Simon Leis, who convicted Mrs. Briede last week on charges of selling and possessing LSD, a hallucinogenic narcotic, pronounced sentence in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Tuesday.

She was arrested last September by police and agents from the Office of Ohio Attorney General Paul Brown in a raid in the Calhoun street area near the University of Cincinnati. She was charged with having made sales of LSD to two state agents. More than a dozen persons were arrested in the round up.

Little Girl Has 2nd Yuletide As Sleeping Sickness Victim

By ED NICHOLLS
Associated Press Writer
ALTIZER, W. Va. (AP) — The dolls little Deloris Simmons received as gifts last Christmas still hang unused in boxes above her bed.

And unless the pretty, brown-haired 10-year-old takes a sudden and dramatic turn for the better, she is about to spend a second Christmas unaware of her gifts or surroundings.

"If she could only speak to us," her mother, Mrs. Dennis Simmons, says sadly, "it would be our happiest Christmas."

Deloris, an honor student at nearby Arnoldsburg Grade School was stricken by a form of encephalitis called sleeping sickness on Sept. 28, 1968.

The girl has shown improvement recently. Her mother says:

"She can hold her head up now and look around and she can follow slow-moving objects with her eyes."

"She makes some noise and she's moving her right side a lot better."

"But she can not speak and we can't tell for sure if she recognized the Christmas tree."

Beneath the tree are ribbon-bedecked packages which "have come from people we don't know," Mrs. Simmons says.

The Calhoun County Junior Chamber of Commerce has raised more than $6,000 to pay the youngster's hospital bills.

Dr. Alexander Pakadej says little Deloris seems to be getting better, "but I don't make the assumption she'll wake up."

Woman Injured As Auto Strikes Parked Truck

Five accidents were investigated by the Highway Patrol Tuesday.

A 33-year-old Washington C. H. woman received injuries when her auto collided with a large truck on Interstate 71, two miles north of the Pickaway Madison County line.

Barbara Haneberg reported to local patrolmen that she saw the semi-truck parked, and thinking it was on the road, hit her brakes to slow down, losing control of her vehicle. She struck the truck in the rear, causing severe damage to her car. The semi had been involved in an earlier accident and had been parked at the side of the highway to await a tow truck.

Mrs. Haneberg was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Cloud Reports State Outlay Of School Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Roger Cloud reported Tuesday that a record $228.2 million in school foundation funds were distributed to Ohio school districts during the first six months of fiscal year 1970.

The payment, which included employer contributions to both the state teachers' and school employees' retirement systems, represented an increase of $15.8 million over a comparable period last year.

Cloud said that in addition to the distributions over the six month period, payments authorized by the General Assembly under new programs constituting a part of the overall foundation program included $17.5 million for special education, $1 million for auxiliary services, and $196,550 for aid to the culturally disadvantaged.

Christmas . . .

In Denmark, snowy and cold and wracked by flu, business was booming and merchants reported something new for Scandinavia—the two Christmas tree family. One tree was being put up in the living room and the other in the garden or on the balcony.

Queen Elizabeth II addressed her annual Christmas greeting to her subjects around the world Tuesday night, saying the 1960s were "the decade in which men first reached out beyond our own planet and set food on the moon, but each one of us will have our own special triumphs or tragedies to look back on."

Christmas has no religious significance for most Japanese, but it is celebrated as a year-end holiday.

For Australians and South Americans, Christmas meant 80-degree weather or hotter. Many were using the holiday seasons for trips to the beach.

Emphysema Clue Found

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A recently discovered clue to the cause of emphysema may lead to mass population surveys to locate carriers of the disease, a Columbus physician said Tuesday.

It also could eventually result in an anti-emphysema serum, according to Dr. Phillip Bromberg, chief of the pulmonary division of the Ohio State University Department of Medicine.

Bromberg reported that Swedish researchers have found emphysema will almost invariably develop in individuals lacking a certain inherited plasma protein called antitrypsin.

According to Bromberg, if an individual with this deficiency smokes, he runs a higher risk of developing the disease.

He said any individual with this protein shortage could be considered a carrier and, while not afflicted with emphysema, could pass the deficiency to their children.

The physician said the level of the protein in individuals and their predisposition to emphysema can be determined through blood tests.

Allies Start Cease-Fire 17 Hours After Viet Reds

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces began a 24-hour Christmas truce tonight, 17 hours after the start of a three-day cease-fire declared by the Viet Cong.

The South Vietnamese military command said it had suspended as many as 60 offensive operations of battalion size or larger throughout the country. Spokesmen said the allies were keeping up local patrols and reconnaissance flights and would fire first if it appeared that enemy troops on the move were threatening them.

A U.S. communique said American forces "will maintain an alert posture and will take necessary security precautions to protect friendly forces or installations."

Although air attacks on targets in South Vietnam were suspended for 24 hours, sources said U.S. planes were continuing their attacks on North Vietnamese infiltration routes in Eastern Laos.

In the hours between the start of the enemy and allied cease-fires, a period in which the allied commands said their forces continued operations as usual, the U.S. Command reported one serious incident which it considered a Viet Cong violation of the enemy's own cease-fire.

A claymore mine went off, apparently detonated electrically by remote control, killed four American soldiers, and wounded five American troops, two South Vietnamese soldiers and two Vietnamese civilians.

An hour or so before, troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division backed by an armored column ran into more than 100

Justice Rings With Poetry

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 10th District Court of Appeals handed down poetic justice Tuesday in upholding the conviction of two persons charged with making a disturbance during Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's Ohio State University commencement address last June.

Michael F. Davis, 23, and Rochelle P. Savren, 20, both of Columbus, argued their arrest was a violation of their right of free expression and quoted Henry David Thoreau in their appeal:

"If a man does not keep pace with his companions perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music which he hears however measured or far away."

Appeals Judge Robert E. Holmes replied in the majority opinion:

"However extensive may be the right of a man to step to the music which he hears, there exists no co-extensive right to disturb by beating his drum in his companions' cars."

Temperatures in the desert sheikdom of Abu Dhabi rise to 120 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade.

Just then, Mrs. Santa Claus came running out waving a long piece of paper.

"You almost forgot your list of good children," she said.

"Never mind," said Santa. "I don't need it. This year I am going to give a present to every little boy and girl, good or bad. The bad ones will feel sorry then, because they know they don't deserve a nice present. It'll make 'em try harder to be good next year."

"That isn't according to Hoyle," said Mrs. Claus, who likes to play bridge. "But it does make sense, you old softie."

Santa stood up to crack his whip in the air—the signal to be off. But he heard a small voice crying:

"Wait, please wait."

It was Cluny, Santa's favorite little elf. The other elves gossiped about Cluny and said she was clumsy at making toys. But Santa knew it was only because she was so young. He liked her because she had a good heart.

"Here," said the tiny elf, holding up a small, shiny figure. "What's this, what's this?" grumbled Santa. "You're too late. My pack is already loaded."

"It is only my present to the world," said Cluny. "I made it at night in my room—all by myself."

Santa took the little figure from her hands. It was a beautiful angel with butterfly wings and a robe of purest white. In her hand the angel held a small magic wand.

"It is the angel of peace," explained Cluny.

"Why, Cluny," said Santa, "this is better than all the other gifts put together. I'll see that your angel waves her wand for one day at least over every home in the land."

And he picked up Cluny and gave her a big whisker-tickly kiss on her cheek. Then he picked up his long whip again and cracked it sharply in the frosty air.

"Ho, ho, ho, here we go!" he roared. "Ho, ho, ho here we go!"

The eight reindeer leaped forward and the big sled began sliding through the snow. Faster, faster, faster, faster—and then they were off the ground and into the air.

Santa was on his way. And tonight, if you go to bed, he will come to your house, wherever you are.

Congress . . .

Another veto threat on a catch-all final appropriations measure was effective. It led the Senate to reverse itself and kill a rider which would have blocked an administration plan to open more construction jobs to blacks.

By far the longest Senate debate of the year came on authorizations for military spending.

Defense Department critics lost the major effort to force a pause in development of the missile defense system. But they contended the protracted look at Pentagon programs did lay the basis for future cutbacks on military outlays.

Early in the session the Senate overwhelmingly ratified a major treaty—the nuclear non-proliferation pact.

The 1969 Congress compiled the worst record ever in delays on the 14 money bills needed to run the government for the fiscal year which began last July 1.

The bulk of the federal agencies did not know what funds they would have for fiscal 1970 until it was almost half over.

In the final analysis, Congress cut the President's requests by more than $7 billion on the fiscal 1970 bills.

However, some of these funds will be spent in future years. Congressional fiscal experts claimed only a $3 billion reduction in actual spending for the current year.

In addition to the HEW-Labor money bill, one other appropriations measure was put over for final action in January—the $2.6 billion foreign aid bill.

It was a good year for Congress in one respect: the 100 Senators and 435 House members got the benefit of a 4.17 per cent salary increase in February. This pay jumped from $30,000 to $42,000 a year.

Sentence Woman As Drug Pusher

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mrs. Mary Jo "Mom" Briede, 45, today began serving a 20-40 year sentence in the Ohio Women's Reformatory for conviction of violating narcotics laws.

Judge Simon Leis, who convicted Mrs. Briede last week on charges of selling and possessing LSD, a hallucinogenic narcotic, pronounced sentence in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Tuesday.

She was arrested last September by police and agents from the Office of Ohio Attorney General Paul Brown in a raid in the Calhoun street area near the University of Cincinnati. She was charged with having made sales of LSD to two state agents. More than a dozen persons were arrested in the round up.

Little Girl Has 2nd Yuletide As Sleeping Sickness Victim

By ED NICHOLS
Associated Press Writer
ALTIZER, W. Va. (AP) — The dolls little Deloris Simmons received as gifts last Christmas still hang unused in boxes above her bed.

And unless the pretty, brown-haired 10-year-old takes a sudden and dramatic turn for the better, she is about to spend a second Christmas unaware of her gifts or surroundings.

"If she could only speak to us," her mother, Mrs. Dennis Simmons, says sadly, "it would be our happiest Christmas."

Deloris, an honor student at nearby Arnoldsburg Grade School was stricken by a form of encephalitis called sleeping sickness on Sept. 28, 1968.

The girl has shown improvement recently. Her mother says:

"She can hold her head up now and look around and she can follow slow-moving objects with her eyes."

"She makes some noise and she's moving her right side a lot better."

"But she can't speak and we can't tell for sure if she recognized the Christmas tree."

Beneath the tree are ribbon-bedecked packages which "have come from people we don't know," Mrs. Simmons says.

The Calhoun County Junior Chamber of Commerce has raised more than $6,000 to pay the youngster's hospital bills.

Dr. Alexander Fakadej says little Deloris seems to be getting better, "but I don't make the assumption she'll wake up."

Woman Injured As Auto Strikes Parked Truck

Five accidents were investigated by the Highway Patrol Tuesday.

A 33-year-old Washington C. H. woman received injuries when her auto collided with a large truck on Interstate 71, two miles north of the Pickaway Madison County line.

Barbara Haneberg reported to local patrolmen that she saw the semi-truck parked, and thinking it was on the road, hit her brakes to slow down, losing control of her vehicle. She struck the truck in the rear, causing severe damage to her car. The semi had been involved in an earlier accident and had been parked at the side of the highway to await a tow truck.

Mrs. Haneberg was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Cloud Reports State Outlay Of School Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Roger Cloud reported Tuesday that a record $228.2 million in school foundation funds were distributed to Ohio school districts during the first six months of fiscal year 1970.

The payment, which included employer contributions to both the state teachers' and school employees' retirement systems, represented an increase of $15.8 million over a comparable period last year.

Cloud said that in addition to the distributions over the six month period, payments authorized by the General Assembly under new programs constituting a part of the overall foundation program included $17.5 million for special education, $1 million for auxiliary services, and $196,550 for aid to the culturally disadvantaged.

In Denmark, snowy and cold and wracked by flu, business was booming and merchants reported something new for Scandinavia—the two Christmas tree family. One tree was being put up in the living room and the other in the garden or on the balcony.

Queen Elizabeth II addressed her annual Christmas greeting to her subjects around the world Tuesday night, saying the 1960s were "the decade in which men first reached out beyond our own planet and set foot on the moon, but each one of us will have our own special triumphs or tragedies to look back on."

Christmas has no religious significance for most Japanese, but it is celebrated as a year-end holiday.

For Australians and South Americans, Christmas meant 80-degree weather or hotter. Many were using the holiday seasons for trips to the beach.

Emphysema Clue Found

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A recently discovered clue to the cause of emphysema may lead to mass population surveys to locate carriers of the disease, a Columbus physician said Tuesday.

It could eventually result in an anti-emphysema serum, according to Dr. Phillip Bromberg, chief of the pulmonary division of the Ohio State University Department of Medicine.

Bromberg reported that Swedish researchers have found emphysema will almost invariably develop in individuals lacking a certain inherited plasma protein called antitrypsin.

He said any individual with this protein shortage could be considered a carrier and, while not afflicted with emphysema, could pass the deficiency to their children.

The physician said the level of the protein in individuals and their predisposition to emphysema can be determined through blood tests.

Global Politics Take On New Look

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The global political struggle is assuming a new look for the '70s.

Once the cold war was a relatively simple affair: East was East and West was West, each with its own set of goals.

Now some of the disputants' values are changing. Hostility remains, but the two sides have common goals as well.

The major dangers are obvious: Vietnam, Asia, China, Russia, the Middle East, Europe and Germany, and so on. But in the long run there are far bigger problems: how to end the nuclear arms race, how to avert a catastrophic world conflict, how to deal with population expansion, competition for living space, competition for trade and raw materials, worldwide pollution of land, sea and air.

These are common problems shared by all advanced nations. Failure to attack them effectively could mean one day that superiority or inferiority in armed forces will not mean much.

More and more, therefore, the word "realities" crops up in the press of both the West and the Communists. One reality: conflicts of the cold war may stand in the way of solving problems which can mean life or death.

Europe has been and still is basically at the core of the cold war, and what happens there is likely to have a decisive effect.

Despite the ominous look of the Middle East, the continuing war in Vietnam and the possibility of other conflict in Asia, a major share of Soviet attention is riveted upon the European continent.

One of the most important events of the 1960s was the 1968 Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia and the concomitant Moscow declaration of a doctrine of limited sovereignty. It demonstrated that Europe is at the center of Soviet calculations. The suffocation of the Czechoslovak liberal movement went to the core of the Russian-Western conflict, and that event is likely to color much of what happens in the next decade.

The doctrine on sovereignty served notice on the West that Eastern Europe is Moscow's private backyard and that the system Moscow installed there is inviolate. Implicitly, the other side of the coin is that Western Europe is in the Atlantic sphere of the United States and must be equally free from violation, and Moscow has been so reminded.

Soviet policy enters on the "security" arrangement theme, first for Europe and then, perhaps, for Asia. There is a suggestion in this that both sides must learn to live with current realities with regard to present divisions of the world.

And so something like a new look is developing. For example, the Soviet Union, after years of considering West Germany the main threat to peace, is making gestures toward the Bonn government. The United States, after years of considering China the most dangerous antagonist, is making gestures to Peking.

Moscow and Washington have decided to talk in earnest about limiting strategic arms systems. This inspires hope that the race might be scaled down or even ended in the 1970s, but the obstacles are formidable.

The Soviet press insists that the United States "must not strive for military superiority" in any talks. It is equally insistent upon the "realities" imposed on Europe at the end of World War II.

For Moscow, those realities include the Soviet domination of East Europe and the division of Europe by the postwar borders. Today, West Germany is developing a mood of resignation to those realities, although they mean no hope of reunification or of ending the division of Berlin.

East Germany is as important to the Soviet pattern for the future as is West Germany to the vast interests of America as the big Atlantic power. But America is separated from Europe by a wide ocean. Thus Soviet gestures to Bonn stir suspicion of Moscow's "European security" pitch. Perhaps, for the price of a small pullback of Soviet troops from East Germany, the Russians might severely weaken NATO and eventually evict the Americans from Europe, leaving it vulnerable.

In the same way, improved U.S. relations with China can arouse Soviet suspicion that the United States is trying to exploit the Peking-Moscow feud. Again, improved U.S. relations with Moscow can cause Peking to suspect that the two are plotting against China.

If all this were not complication enough, there is more. Moscow, while suggesting that there are "broad prospects for suspending the nuclear arms race in the 1970s," displays no inclination—overtly, at any rate—to abate its hostility to the U.S. system or to forewarn stated Communist expansion goals.

Over-all, however, Moscow itself seems to be weighing such "realities" as the enormous cost of competing in an arms race with so rich an antagonist as the United States, at the expense of an internal development the Soviet regime sorely needs.

The Soviet press calls limitation of nuclear arms "the most urgent problem of the 1970s," and there, perhaps, lies the greatest hope for the decade.

Dear Abby: Is Hubby's Heart Trouble A Hoax?

DEAR ABBY: That "UNDERPAID SITTER" sure gave me a laugh. I am a 27-year-old mother who many years ago used to sit for 25 cents an hour and I did more for my quarter than any sifter I've ever had for 50 cents.

Sitters in our day were expected to entertain the kids, pick up after them, bathe the little ones, and put them all to bed. THEN, do the dishes.

NOW all the sitters do are SIT. The kids can pull the place apart and the sifter doesn't lift a finger to straighten it up. And sitters can eat out of house and home. But what gets me is they won't even bother to carry their own empty bottles, glasses and dishes into the kitchen, let alone wash them. They just leave everything right in the room where they had their refreshments. I think I'd faint if one ever cleaned up after herself.

For my part, I wouldn't mind paying 75 cents an hour if I came home to a house that looked as tidy as it did when I left it.

But I think 75 cents an hour for someone who watches TV, talks on the phone and adds $5 to my grocery bill is 50 cents an hour too much.

HAS BEEN SITTER

DEAR ABBY: Don't let me get started on sitters and how "underpaid" they are. Some of the dillies we've had should have paid US!

One quiet little thing who always carried a Bible in her purse, thoroughly cleaned out our liquor supply before leaving town.

Another one (A bosomy college freshman) physically ATTACKED my husband while he was driving her home one evening. So surprised was he, he hit a telephone pole and broke his nose. (She said all she wanted was a KISS!)

We had a whole series of hungry kids who ate the fridge to the bare walls, but one had the gall to work out of the deep freeze and thaw stuff out in the oven.

But we decided to use only elderly ladies after a neighbor called the fire department to extinguish a fire in our house. Our teen-aged sifter and her friends were having such a gay party they didn't even know the house was on fire!

Thank heavens we don't need sitters anymore.

"FREE AT LAST" IN WOODSIDE

DEAR ABBY: That letter signed "UNDERPAID SITTER" sure got to me, but I think my experience with a sifter last week tops them all. Listen to this: A friend of mine recommended a high school girl to sit. I called her and she asked me if we had a color TV. I told her we had one so she said, "Good. I'll come."

She came and I told her that the older girl (10) could bathe herself and put herself to bed, but the younger one (six) might need a little help, so she should see that she brushed her teeth and got into bed by 8 p.m. Both children had had their supper and the kitchen was spotless. I left a sandwich for the sifter and told her to help herself to a soft drink in the fridge.

Holiday Toll Seen 920

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council estimated today that 800 to 920 persons may be killed in traffic accidents over the Christmas week-end. It urged caution and moderation in holiday drinking.

"Ideally, if you are going to drive, it would be better if you didn't drink at all," Howard Pyle, council president, advised.

"But if you do imbibe, do so in such a manner that your coordination, eyesight, and common sense will not be impaired so that you can safely cope with the high hazards of this holiday such as unusually heavy traffic, poor weather conditions, and early darkness," Pyle added.

To stay unimpaired by alcohol, a person should allow an hour to pass for each average drink, Pyle suggested. An average drink would be one containing an ounce of whiskey, gin, etc., or a 12-ounce serving of beer, he said.

The period covered by the council's estimate will extend from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 24, to midnight Sunday, Dec. 28. During the Thanksgiving week-end, containing the same number of days, there were 686 traffic deaths.

Viet Reds Blast Billionaire's Trip

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam's chief delegate to the Paris peace talks described as a "provocative gesture" Monday night a Texas billionaire's plan to fly 150 women and children here on Christmas to seek information about U.S. servicemen believed captives in Vietnam.

Xuan Thuy, talking to newsmen at a North Vietnamese reception, called the airlift, arranged by H. Ross Perot of Dallas a demonstration of support for the "warlike" policies of President Nixon.

Global Politics Take On New Look

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The global political struggle is assuming a new look for the '70s.

Once the cold war was a relatively simple affair: East was East and West was West, each with its own set of goals.

Now some of the disputants values are changing. Hostility remains, but the two sides have common goals as well.

The major dangers are obvious: Vietnam, Asia, China, Russia, the Middle East, Europe and Germany, and so on. But in the long run there are far bigger problems: how to end the nuclear arms race, how to avert a catastrophic world conflict, how to deal with population expansion, competition for living space, competition for trade and raw materials, worldwide pollution of land, sea and air.

These are common problems shared by all advanced nations. Failure to attack them effectively could mean one day that superiority or inferiority in armed forces will not mean much.

More and more, therefore, the word "realities" crops up in the press of both the West and the Communists. One reality: conflicts of the cold war may stand in the way of solving problems which can mean life or death.

Europe has been and still is basically at the core of the cold war, and what happens there is likely to have a decisive effect.

Despite the ominous look of the Middle East, the continuing war in Vietnam and the possibility of other conflict in Asia, a major share of Soviet attention is riveted upon the European continent.

One of the most important events of the 1960s was the 1968 Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia and the concomitant Moscow declaration of a doctrine of limited sovereignty. It demonstrated that Europe is at the center of Soviet calculations. The suffocation of the Czechoslovak liberal movement went to the core of the Russian-Western conflict, and that event is likely to color much of what happens in the next decade.

The doctrine on sovereignty served notice on the West that Eastern Europe is Moscow's private backyard and that the system Moscow installed there is inviolate. Implicitly, the other side of the coin is that Western Europe is in the Atlantic sphere of the United States and must be equally free from violation, and Moscow has been so reminded.

Soviet policy enters on the "security" arrangement theme, first for Europe and then, perhaps, for Asia. There is a suggestion in this that both sides must learn to live with current realities with regard to present divisions of the world.

And so something like a new look is developing. For example, the Soviet Union, after years of considering West Germany the main threat to peace, is making gestures toward the Bonn government. The United States, after years of considering China the most dangerous antagonist, is making gestures to Peking.

Moscow and Washington have decided to talk in earnest about limiting strategic arms systems. This inspires hope that the race might be scaled down, or even ended in the 1970s, but the obstacles are formidable.

The Soviet press insists that the United States "must not strive for military superiority" in any talks. It is equally insistent upon the "realities" imposed on Europe at the end of World War II.

For Moscow, those realities include the Soviet domination of East Europe and the division of Europe by the postwar borders. Today, West Germany is developing a mood of resignation to those realities, although they mean no hope of reunification or of ending the division of Berlin.

East Germany is as important to the Soviet pattern for the future as is West Germany to the vast interests of America as the big Atlantic power. But America is separated from Europe by a wide ocean. Thus Soviet gestures to Bonn stir suspicion of Moscow's "European security" pitch. Perhaps, for the price of a small pullback of Soviet troops from East Germany, the Russians might severely weaken NATO and eventually evict the Americans from Europe, leaving it vulnerable.

In the same way, improved U.S. relations with China can arouse Soviet suspicion that the United States is trying to exploit the Peking-Moscow feud. Again, improved U.S. relations with Moscow can cause Peking to suspect that the two are plotting against China.

If all this were not complication enough, there is more. Moscow, while suggesting that there are "broad prospects for suspending the nuclear arms race in the 1970s," displays no inclination—overtly, at any rate—to abate its hostility to the U.S. system or to forewear stated Communist expansion goals.

Over-all, however, Moscow itself seems to be weighing such "realities" as the enormous cost of competing in an arms race with so rich an antagonist as the United States, at the expense of an internal development the Soviet regime sorely needs.

The Soviet press calls limitation of nuclear arms "the most urgent problem of the 1970s," and there, perhaps, lies the greatest hope for the decade.

When we came home at midnight, we found the front door wide open and every light in the house was on. The TV was blaring so loudly we heard it half a block away as we approached our house. We found the sitter sound asleep on the sofa. When I went into the kitchen I found that she had made popcorn and fudge for herself and left the mess for me to clean up. She had also opened two cans of crabmeat and finished them off. She had drunk three bottles of soft drink and had eaten nearly a quart of ice cream!

I checked on the children and found the little one curled up in a corner of her room asleep with all her clothes (and SHOES) on!

When I paid her the 50 cents an hour we had agreed upon, she said, "The last lady I sat for gave me a dollar tip."

Physical Exam For Ray Out

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray, assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., need not undergo a physical examination before a court appearance next Monday, a federal judge has ruled.

The court appearance is for a hearing on Ray's petition to be removed from solitary confinement and permitted to mingle with other inmates at the state prison, where he is serving 99 years.

The request that he be given a physical was made by attorneys for the state, who said Monday that Ray's present health "is a matter of dispute." The motion was denied by U.S. Dist. Judge William E. Miller.

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP) — The Betty Jane Memorial Rehabilitation Center is offering free services to any Ohioans "planning to become handicapped" in auto accidents over the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

Jake Pool, executive director of the private center, said prospective patients could arrange for the services by filling out application forms five days in advance of anticipated accidents.

"The general public does not realize that deaths are not the largest problem from accidents," said Pool. "If you're planning to become handicapped, at least plan to be rehabilitated so that your family will not suffer from your mistake."

Anti-Pollution Combine

One of the difficulties with mounting a concerted effort to stop pollution of the earth's resources and begin retrieving some already polluted has been a lack of sufficient trained manpower or funds to put that manpower to work.

The first part of the problem may be on the way toward a solution if plans of the Argonne National Laboratory materialize. The laboratory has begun working toward turning the attention of 30 universities which in the past have combined their facilities and expertise to work on the development of nuclear energy toward the problem of pollution.

Already the Argonne Users Association, representing the 30 universities, has voted to use the Argonne laboratory for the new work and has adopted a broad outline for studying all types of waste produced by a major metropolitan area.

What will happen next may depend largely on the amount of funds the federal government will make available to the AUA. The chance to engage a vast intelligence pool such as that represented in this organization in an area as vital as pollution control should not be lost for lack of interest.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — There is always reason enough to doubt those economic forecasts for the year ahead that pour out of brokerage houses, government offices, boardrooms and classrooms around this time of year.

Last year, for example, many of the seers missed not only the bull's-eye but the target to foresee a business slowdown a lessening of inflation, greater unemployment and less pressure on interest rates. Wrong on almost all counts.

Side by side with the doubts this year is another vast aggregation made up of those whose doubts are not nearly as strong as their wishes. They're hoppers and as they view the forecasts they pray they won't come true.

No question about it those forecasts are a bit gloomy. You can detect in them a feeling that in 1969 the country escaped too easily from the consequences of its extravagances and that 1970 will be the year to pay.

The standard forecasts are for greater unemployment, higher prices for months more, a recession in housing, a slowing of pay raises, higher real estate taxes, a continuation of high interest rates well into the year.

In some years there is much disagreement among forecasters. At the present there are a few notable exceptions to the consensus forecast but there is also more unanimity than in perhaps any year of the past eight or nine.

In preparing for financially more austere times however Americans should not forget that the situation is relative. Any downturn short of a major recession still will leave most Americans better off than 10 years earlier.

There are also some small areas of improvement to look forward to. Social Security benefits might be higher, federal income taxes lower. And the outlook for the second half of 1970 is distinctly better than for the first half.

Some projections for example show the worst of the housing recession occurring in mid-year with steady improvement after that. And although inflation might average 4 per cent, a figure forecast by the National Planning Association, it could be well below that rate by year end.

And then there is the accuracy of forecasts to consider. Maybe the seers will be wrong about economic occurrences in 1970. You can bet that millions of Americans hope so.

Finally in the coming slowdown there is a disguised blessing. It is this: As the ability and willingness to buy is reduced, the market place should shift from a seller's market to a buyer's market.

This indeed would be the biggest reward for any hardship endured.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AN EXHAUSTED father steered his three unruly kids to the box office of a "Trip to the Moon" spectacular at the Planetarium, plunked down a ten-spot, and demanded, "One round-trip ticket for an adult, and three one-way for the children."

Chief excitement at a recent international film festival came when two scintillating lady stars who disliked each other cordially received awards in succession.

The first star received as her prize a delicate glass bowl, which, knowing that the lady who followed her was going to do a solo dance in her bare tootsies, she thoughtfully let slip through her fingers, thereby sprinkling the stage with a thousand tiny fragments of glass. The dancer managed to do her number, then retired, reportedly, with a package of adhesive bandages and a paperback entitled "How to Be an Expert in Karate."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

How serious is typhoid fever? Does it still exist in enough countries to make vaccination necessary?

Mr. N. O., Oregon Dear Mr. O.: The seriousness of typhoid fever, when it does occur, is still as great as ever. The only thing that has changed is that the disease has, with better hygiene, been reduced in its frequency and distribution all over the world.

Typhoid fever is an infection caused by a germ Salmonella Typhosa which can contaminate milk or food and then invade the body through the digestive tract. Persons who are actually infected can, of course, spread infection by handling food that is eaten by others. Some of these people are known as typhoid carriers. They can transmit the disease to others without actually suffering from it themselves.

Typhoid fever is still an active disease in many underprivileged countries that are overcrowded and have poor sanitation facilities. Epidemics break out in many parts of the world and, surprisingly sometimes even in America.

Public health officials set up rigid requirements in food handlers before they are given licenses to work in restaurants. Despite the most careful precautions typhoid breaks out and unless quickly controlled can become a local or generalized epidemic.

Vaccination against typhoid and para typhoid fever is absolutely essential for travelers in underdeveloped areas. United States Public Health Service can suggest the need for vaccination against typhoid, cholera and yellow fever when traveling in some countries.

Are there any special dangers to children if they are permitted to watch television for two hours a day? Can it do harm to their eyes?

Mrs. N.G.R., New Jersey Dear Mrs. R.: Watching television for that many hours a week does not affect eyes nearly as much as it does the brain in its development. I am certain that if the child has normal vision there is little or no possibility that the eyes will be disturbed over a long period of time. The possible hazards of radioactivity are slight, but should be investigated, especially with color TV. Manufacturers are trying to reduce and screen radiation to a harmless level.

When I said, "brain development is affected," I, of course, mean that precious hours of reading, listening to music, and creative artistry are being sacrificed to time-consuming cartoons and repetitive Westerns. Can children be born without gamma globulin in the blood? How does this affect them?

Mrs. W.L., Virginia Dear Mrs. L.: It has been known for some time that some children are born with a deficiency and even a total absence of gamma globulin, one of the important body factors that fights infection. This substance in the blood stream contains valuable antibodies that counteract germs that produce disease. The amount of gamma globulin can be measured and, if it is inadequate, can be replaced by regular booster injections.

Training The Hard Core

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

One could listen with sympathetic ears to the young when they inveigh against the deteriorating quality of American life if they weren't so self-righteous about it. Their teachers are often no better when it comes to distributing blanket indictments of groups and classes that they know only vicariously, through the year-say stereotypes that pass for sociological knowledge.

Both the young and their teachers almost never have a good word to say about the American corporation. A Columbia University sociologist, Dr. Amitai Etzioni, remarks that today's activist youth is bent on avoiding the corporate "rat race" for careers in social work. And Dr. Dan W. Dodson of New York University thinks that if the young do choose business careers they will try to "restructure" industry to make it more humane.

The insult to our corporations implied in such attitudes reckons without history. The fact is that our corporations have been doing a great deal to back the civil rights movement and to put the "hard core" unemployed to work. Some of the leaders of union labor (though not all, by any means) have had a much worse record for discrimination than businessmen.

The record of General Electric in backing the self-help "black capitalism" projects of the Reverend Leon Sullivan is excellent. So, too, is Shell Oil's program for recruiting service station proprietors from among the disadvantaged, whether they happen to be black or white. And the "street academies" in Harlem which have been turning drop-outs into serious students have had the help of Pan American World Airways and other big corporations as well as the support of the Urban League.

Under President Lyndon Johnson the Office of Economic Opportunity, a government agency, got a great play for what it was trying to do to train the unemployed for useful activity. But it was never the equal of the National Alliance of Businessmen, headed by Henry Ford II.

When Ford turned the chairmanship of this group over to President Nixon's appointee, Don Kendall of the Pepsi-Cola Company, the Alliance had managed to place 146,000 people in jobs with 12,500 firms.

If the young would have the patience to read something more than the sloganized tripe put out by the Left, it might open their eyes to go through the latter chapters in Booton Herndon's "Ford: An Unconventional Biography of the Men and Their Times." Mr. Herndon confessed in an interview the other day that he, personally, was a bleeding-heart liberal. But he is going to lose his bleeding-heart lodge button now that he has written his book. His chapters on "Men of Social Conscience" make an absolutely irrefutable case for the superiority of the corporate approach toward putting the hard core to work over anything the government has managed to do without calling in the businessmen.

Henry Ford II got his impetus for expanding his grandfather's very decent hiring practices after spending considerable time talking with black militant leaders in Detroit. But it was no sudden conversion when Ford prodded the New Detroit Committee to "generalize" the Ford Motor Company's efforts to "screen 'em in" rather than to screen them out. Henry Ford II had had a long-standing friendship with Whitney Young Jr., the executive director of the Urban League. Mr. Herndon's story of this friendship goes into a bit of interesting history. It so happens that Whitney Young's father, a Negro, had been employed by the first Henry Ford in 1919 at a $300-a-month job as an electrical engineer. (It is now forgotten by those who talk about corporate discrimination that the first Henry Ford's hiring practices, as taken up by other companies, pushed the Negro population of Detroit from five per cent in 1920 to fifty per cent in the Sixties.) The elder Whitney Young left Ford to become a $68-a-month teacher in a Negro school. But he never forgot "old Henry." The friendship of the younger Whitney Young and

"young Henry Ford" was assured.

If and when the young take corporation jobs with the idea of "humanizing" industry, they may make the disconcerting discovery that the necessary "restructuring" is already considerably more than half begun. Mr. Herndon has written about Ford, but the same sort of chronicle could be done for General Electric, Pan American, Shell Oil and many other companies.

Anti-Pollution Combine

One of the difficulties with mounting a concerted effort to stop pollution of the earth's resources and begin retrieving some already polluted has been a lack of sufficient trained manpower or funds to put that manpower to work.

The first part of the problem may be on the way toward a solution if plans of the Argonne National Laboratory materialize. The laboratory has begun working toward turning the attention of 30 universities which in the past have combined their facilities and expertise to work on the development of nuclear energy toward the problem of pollution.

Already the Argonne Users Association, representing the 30 universities, has voted to use the Argonne laboratory for the new work and has adopted a broad outline for studying all types of waste produced by a major metropolitan area.

What will happen next may depend largely on the amount of funds the federal government will make available to the AUA. The chance to engage a vast intelligence pool such as that represented in this organization in an area as vital as pollution control should not be lost for lack of interest.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — There is always reason enough to doubt those economic forecasts for the year ahead that pour out of brokerage houses, government offices, boardrooms and classrooms around this time of year.

Last year, for example, many of the seers missed not only the bull's-eye but the target to foresee a business slowdown a lessening of inflation, greater unemployment and less pressure on interest rates. Wrong on almost all counts.

Side by side with the doubts this year is another vast aggregation made up of those whose doubts are not nearly as strong as their wishes. They're hoppers and as they view the forecasts they pray they won't come true.

No question about it these forecasts are a bit gloomy. You can detect in them a feeling that in 1969 the country escaped too easily from the consequences of its extravagances and that 1970 will be the year to pay.

The standard forecasts are for greater unemployment, higher prices for months more, a recession in housing, a slowing of pay raises, higher real estate taxes, a continuation of high interest rates well into the year.

In some years there is much disagreement among forecasters. At the present there are a few notable exceptions to the consensus forecast but there is also more unanimity than in perhaps any year of the past eight or nine.

In preparing for financially more austere times however Americans should not forget that the situation is relative. Any downturn short of a major recession still will leave most Americans better off than 10 years earlier.

There are also some small areas of improvement to look forward to. Social Security benefits might be higher, federal income taxes lower. And the outlook for the second half of 1970 is distinctly better than for the first half.

Some projections for example show the worst of the housing recession occurring in mid-year with steady improvement after that. And although inflation might average 4 per cent, a figure forecast by the National Planning Association, it could be well below that rate by year end.

And then there is the accuracy of forecasts to consider. Maybe the seers will be wrong about economic occurrences in 1970. You can bet that millions of Americans hope so.

Finally in the coming slowdown there is a disguised blessing. It is this: As the ability and willingness to buy is reduced, the market place should shift from a seller's market to a buyer's market.

This indeed would be the biggest reward for any hardship endured.

Chief excitement at a recent international film festival came when two scintillating lady stars who disliked each other cordially received awards in succession.

The first star received as her prize a delicate glass bowl, which, knowing that the lady who followed her was going to do a solo dance in her bare tootsies, she thoughtfully let slip through her fingers, thereby sprinkling the stage with a thousand tiny fragments of glass. The dancer managed to do her number, then retired, reportedly, with a package of adhesive bandages and a paperback entitled "How to Be an Expert in Karate."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

How serious is typhoid fever? Does it still exist in enough countries to make vaccination necessary?

Mr. N. O., Oregon Dear Mr. O.: The seriousness of typhoid fever, when it does occur, is still as great as ever. The only thing that has changed is that the disease has, with better hygiene, been reduced in its frequency and distribution all over the world.

Typhoid fever is an infection caused by a germ Salmonella Typhosa which can contaminate milk or food and then invade the body through the digestive tract. Persons who are actually infected can, of course, spread infection by handling food that is eaten by others. Some of these people are known as typhoid carriers. They can transmit the disease to others without actually suffering from it themselves.

Typhoid fever is still an active disease in many underdeveloped countries that are overcrowded and have poor sanitation facilities. Epidemics break out in many parts of the world and, surprisingly sometimes even in America.

Public health officials set up rigid requirements in food handlers before they are given licenses to work in restaurants. Despite the most careful precautions typhoid breaks out and unless quickly controlled can become a local or generalized epidemic.

Vaccination against typhoid and para typhoid fever is absolutely essential for travelers in underdeveloped areas. United States Public Health Service can suggest the need for vaccination against typhoid, cholera and yellow fever when traveling in some countries.

Are there any special dangers to children if they are permitted to watch television for two hours a day? Can it do harm to their eyes?

Mrs. N.G.R., New Jersey Dear Mrs. R.: Watching television for that many hours a week does not affect eyes nearly as much as it does the brain in its development. I am certain that if the child has normal vision there is little or no possibility that the eyes will be disturbed over a long period of time. The possible hazards of radioactivity are slight, but should be investigated, especially with color TV. Manufacturers are trying to reduce and screen radiation to a harmless level.

When I said, "brain development is affected," I, of course, mean that precious hours of reading, listening to music, and creative artistry are being sacrificed to time-consuming cartoons and repetitive Westerns. Sensible choosing of good educational programs can offer children a great advantage. Where to find them is the real problem.

Man Appeals To High Court For Illegal Confinement Cash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stephen Dennison, now 60 and gray-haired, appealed Tuesday to the Supreme Court for $15,000 for the 34 years he spent in prison for stealing $5 worth of chocolate bars and marshmallows.

Through attorneys, the unemployed Glens Falls, N. Y., janitor said the money, once awarded him by a claims court, would be partial compensation for

Williams Rips Tax Loophole

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a closing blast at the tax reform bill, Sen. John J. Williams says Congress has moved too slowly in closing a loophole available to prominent public officials, notably former presidents.

The Delaware Republican, ranking GOP member of the Senate Finance Committee, complained Monday about the provision in the tax reform bill ending the right to deduct donation of private papers as a charitable contribution.

"I understand there's about $20 million involved," he said.

When Williams called attention to the loophole earlier this year there was immediate speculation he wanted to prevent former President Lyndon B. Johnson from taking advantage of it.

At Williams' urging the Senate set the closing date for last Jan. 1. The House made it Dec. 29 this year, but the Senate-House conference committee changed it to next July 25.

When Johnson left office last Jan. 20, he trucked millions of private papers to Texas and said they were for the University of Texas.

Texas Billionaire Flies To Bangkok With POW Gifts

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Texas billionaire H. Ross Perot flew into Bangkok Tuesday and expressed optimism that North Vietnam will allow him to deliver two plane loads of Christmas presents to an estimated 1,400 U.S. prisoners of war.

"I would be very disappointed if they turned me down," Perot said to newsmen at the airport.

He arrived here from Hong Kong aboard one of two chartered airliners. The other is waiting for word in Dallas, Tex., where Perot and his party began their holiday mission Sunday night.

Perot said he planned to leave the jet he arrived on in Bangkok and go on ahead by himself to meet with North Vietnamese officials either in Laos or Cambodia.

The creche, or nativity scene, was introduced to France by St. Francis of Assisi in the early 1300s, according to legend.

"the lifetime he could never enjoy."

The award was set aside by New York appeals courts on the grounds Dennison, classified by reformatory officials as a "low-grade moron," could not hold the state liable even if state doctors were wrong in ruling him mentally defective.

As a boy of 16, Dennison was arrested for stealing the candy from a roadside stand in his hometown, Salem, N.Y. He was given a suspended sentence and placed on probation. When he did not report monthly to a minister he was sent to the Elmira reformatory.

There officials decided—Dennison's attorneys later called it a "tragic mistake"—he was mentally deficient. He was transferred to an institution for male defective delinquents at Naponach, N.Y., and later to the Dannemora State Hospital.

In 1960, after 34 years in state institutions, he was released through the efforts of a brother, George, who was convinced he was sane.

The biggest sentence Dennison could have received for the $5 theft was 10 years. His lawyers contend the additional 24 years were imposed unconstitutionally, that Dennison should have been given a jury trial where he could have fought the doctors' conclusions.

The award, until it was reversed, brought Dennison numerous proposals of marriage. He remains a bachelor, lives in a small room; a lawyer told a reporter, and was recently laid off from his janitor's job at the Glens Falls community workshop.

6 Boys Save 2 Men, Pup

TAVERNIER, Fla. (AP) — Six teen-age boys, clawing with their bare hands, saved two men and a poodle puppy trapped Monday night in a car by eight tons of gravel.

William Nielson, 67, of Miami, and Oliver Anderson, 78, of Key Largo, told police they were preparing to turn off State Road 905 when an oncoming truck swerved and veered over on its side, spilling the gravel onto the auto.

The teen-agers, camping nearby, saw the accident and began scooping the gravel out through the shattered windshield. The youths managed to reach the men and give them breathing space while they struggled to open a door.

But as the men emerged, the boys heard the muffled yelps of a dog, and were told "Hippie" the poodle was still inside.

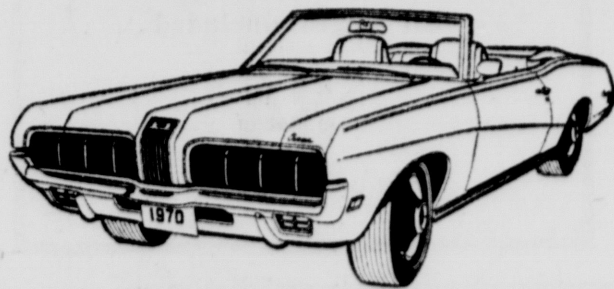

"His barking grew weaker and weaker," said one boy, his hand slashed by the rocks. "Finally, I cried out I could feel his nose," and soon the dog bounded out, unharmed.

No charges were filed against the truck driver, who was too dazed to help with the rescue, officials said.

Monroe County sheriff's deputies said neither Nielson or Anderson was seriously injured.

Christmas Luncheon Held By Pickaway Social Club

Thirty-two members and guests of the Pickaway Social Club met in Trinity Lutheran Parish House, Thursday, Dec. 18, for their second annual Christmas Luncheon. Hostesses for the carry-in affair were Miss Kitty Mead, Mrs. Harry Lane and Mrs. Nora Noise. The tables were gaily decorated with greenery and red candles and a Christmas tree decorated with red velvet bows and cardinals provided a cheery background for the gifts each one had brought for a white elephant gift exchange.

After the meal the group sang Christmas carols, led by Rev. Mary Lou Henderson, with Mrs. Bessie Pierce at the piano. Mrs. Merton Lorentz read a series of Christmas legends from medieval Europe, as written in poetic fashion by Phyllis McGinley. Some of the members told of their most memorable Christmas happenings, both during their childhood and in adult life. A quickie quiz about "The Night Before Christmas" was conducted by Rev. Henderson, who also offered some words of inspiration for all during the season commemorating the birth of the Christ Child, our Lord and Saviour.

After singing some more carols, including an original one, written by Mrs. Henderson, the gifts were distributed. These were passed around while all sang, "Jingle Bells" and when the music stopped, each kept the gift he or she had. Dr. Water Heine was the hilarious recipient of a pair of pantaloons, concocted from dish cloths sewn together. He assured the group he knew what to do with the dish cloths and his wife assured him she would see they got ripped apart, ready to use.

In concluding the day's activities, the group sang "America" to honor and remember all of our servicemen, both at home and far off. Some of the members toured the church which was decorated with greens and Christmas trees bearing Christmas ornaments in white and gold representing Christ's monograms, hence the word Christmas.

The January meeting will again be held in the basement of the VFW club, 217 N. Court St., Thursday, Jan. 22, from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

TOPS Club To Welcome New Members

TOPS Club elected officers Wednesday evening for the coming year. Sharon Hartinger is the leader, Zelma Lemaster, co-leader; Connie Ramey, secretary; Margaret Spangler, treasurer; Barbara Kennedy, weight recorder and Conda Phillips reporter.

Membership to the club is open and those interested may attend any meeting on Wednesday from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. in the Red Cross headquarters.

New members of the club are Mayane Ward, Virginia Bush, Conda Phillips, Margaret Phillips, Margaret Spangler, Betty Barnes and Ann Conrad.

Child Study League Meets

Child Study Patron League met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. James Palm. Mrs. Gladden Troutman served as co-hostess.

Mrs. Ronald Miller conducted the meeting in the absence of the president, Linda Harden. Mrs. Juliann Palm read the "Legend Of The Poinsettia."

Mrs. Palm introduced the speakers for the evening, Mrs. F. C. Tammany from Hungary, Mrs. David Chalmers from Scotland and Mrs. Guenther Meier from France. They explained the different religious customs they practice in their homelands.

Refreshments appropriate for the holidays were served by the hostess.

Social Hour Club Sets Dinner Meeting

Five Points United Methodist Social Hour Club will meet 7:30 p.m. Friday in the home of Mrs. Helen Phillips.

A covered-dish dinner will precede the meeting. All members are urged to attend.

Carolyn Bailey Engaged To David Tadlock

CAROLYN SUE BAILEY

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Bailey, Mt. Sterling, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn Sue, to Mr. David Heath Tadlock, son of Mrs. Katharine Tadlock, 595 N. Court St., and the late Rev. M. Heath Tadlock.

Miss Elma Rains, most excellent chief elect, invited the staff of Majors Temple to assist the joint installation ceremony 7:30 p.m. Jan. 12, at the K of P Temple in Circleville, when the 1970 officers of Philos Lodge 64 K of P and Majors Temple 516 Pythian Sisters will assume office. The meeting will be open.

Mrs. Strawser read an article "My Christmas List" which stated 11 ways to make the true meaning of Christmas more real and to put Christ back in Christmas.

A carry-in dinner, with Mrs. Harry Lane as chairman, was served immediately following the meeting at tables decorated in keeping with the Christmas season.

Gaily wrapped Christmas packages surrounded a beautifully lighted ceramic Christmas tree made by Mrs. Strawser. A fellowship hour and gift exchange was held.

Hunter Is Shot, Wounded By Dog

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A hunter was shot and wounded by a dog.

Mrs. Orville Williams was treated at a hospital after a .22-caliber bullet grazed her above the left eye.

Mrs. Williams and her husband were hunting with their dogs. Williams shot a squirrel but it became lodged in the branches of a tree.

The rifles were placed on the ground while the couple tried to knock the squirrel from the tree.

The squirrel fell and landed on top of the rifles. One of the dogs lunged for the squirrel, causing one of the rifles to fire.

Music Club Sings Carols Before Party

Mrs. Paul Teegardin entertained St. Philip's Junior Music Club to a Christmas party in the Parish House. Members and guests met at 7 p.m. and sang carols from house to house for an hour.

They returned to the Parish House for Christmas merriment, games, singing and playing.

The party was concluded with refreshments.

Guests other than members were Sherri Roan, Debbie Moore, Glen Howard, Paul Teegardin, Carrie Teegardin, Klara Tammany, and Douglas and Stephen Binns of Los Angeles, Calif.

The next regular meeting of the club is scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 7.

Battelle Tax Status Probed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Franklin County commissioners, Harold M. Cooper and Michael Dorrian, have asked State Auditor Roger Cloud to see if securities held by Battelle Memorial Institute are taxable.

The commissioners said they felt securities exemptions on corporations would not apply to Battelle because the non-profit private institution has no shareholders as such. Cooper and Dorrian said they understood Battelle holds $250 million in securities, and that personal property and intangible taxes on these could add $3 million a year to the county's treasury.

Court action is pending against Battelle now, under action instituted by Probate Court Judge Richard B. Metcalif, to determine if the organization has followed the will of its founder which specified profits be distributed to charity.

Soviets Publish Party Doctrine

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party published Tuesday a sweeping restatement of party doctrine, bringing up to date the Kremlin position on China, Czechoslovakia, the capitalist West and a variety of domestic issues.

The document, called the party theses, is the most important declaration of party attitudes since the last theses were brought out 2 1/2 years ago.

The new theses are notable chiefly for their restraint on all foreign policy issues, especially on China, which was referred to only indirectly.

How The Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

Skies cleared in some sections of the state during the night but cloudiness still persisted over much of snow covered Ohio.

The low pressure system that moved rapidly across Ohio Tuesday brought a general snow that produced new amounts of one to three inches.

Heavy snow fell in the Toledo area, where eight inches were reported.

The snow, however, diminished to light flurries late Tuesday. As the clearing process began, temperatures skidded. At 6 a.m. today, Toledo reported a three above reading while Youngstown recorded five degrees.

A new low pressure system was moving toward Ohio and snow appears likely to reach the western border early tonight, spread across the state and continue Thursday. Freezing rain is expected in the southern sections.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Snow likely tonight and Thursday, possibly mixed with freezing rain central and south. Lows in the teens and 20s.

NORTHWEST, NORTHEAST OHIO — Snow likely tonight and Thursday. Lows tonight in the teens and low 20s. Highs Thursday in the 20s and low 30s.

CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL OHIO — Snow likely tonight and Thursday, possibly becoming mixed with freezing rain. Lows in the teens and low 20s. Highs Thursday in the upper 20s and low 30s.

SOUTHWEST, SOUTHEAST OHIO — Snow likely tonight and Thursday, possibly mixed with freezing rain. Lows tonight in the teens and low 20s. Highs Thursday in the low 30s.

Christmas Luncheon Held By Pickaway Social Club

Thirty-two members and guests of the Pickaway Social Club met in Trinity Lutheran Parish House, Thursday, Dec. 18, for their second annual Christmas Luncheon. Hostesses for the carry-in affair were Miss Kitty Mead, Mrs. Harry Lane and Mrs. Nora Noise. The tables were gaily decorated with greenery and red candles and a Christmas tree decorated with red velvet bows and cardinals provided a cheery background for the gifts each one had brought for a white elephant gift exchange.

After the meal the group sang Christmas carols, led by Rev. Mary Lou Henderson, with Mrs. Bessie Pierce at the piano. Mrs. Merton Lorentz read a series of Christmas legends from medieval Europe, as written in poetic fashion by Phyllis McGinley. Some of the members told of their most memorable Christmas happenings, both during their childhood and in adult life. A quickie quiz about "The Night Before Christmas" was conducted by Rev. Henderson, who also offered some words of inspiration for all during the season commemorating the birth of the Christ Child, our Lord and Saviour.

After singing some more carols, including an original one, written by Mrs. Henderson, the gifts were distributed. These were passed around while all sang, "Jingle Bells" and when the music stopped, each kept the gift he or she had. Dr. Water Heine was the hilarious recipient of a pair of pantaloons, concocted from dish cloths sewn together. He assured the group he knew what to do with the dish cloths and his wife assured him she would see they got ripped apart, ready to use.

In concluding the day's activities, the group sang "America" to honor and remember all of our servicemen, both at home and far off. Some of the members toured the church which was decorated with greens and Christmas trees bearing Christmas ornaments in white and gold representing Christ's monograms, hence the word Christmas.

The January meeting will again be held in the basement of the VFW club, 217 N. Court St., Thursday, Jan. 22, from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

TOPS Club To Welcome New Members

TOPS Club elected officers Wednesday evening for the coming year. Sharon Hartinger is the leader, Zelma Lemaster, co-leader; Connie Ramey, secretary; Margaret Spangler, treasurer; Barbara Kennedy, weight recorder and Conda Phillips reporter.

Membership to the club is open and those interested may attend any meeting on Wednesday from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. in the Red Cross headquarters.

New members of the club are Mayane Ward, Virginia Bush, Conda Phillips, Margaret Phillips, Margaret Spangler, Betty Barnes and Ann Conrad.

Child Study League Meets

Child Study Patron League met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. James Palm. Mrs. Gladden Troutman served as co-hostess.

Mrs. Ronald Miller conducted the meeting in the absence of the president, Linda Harden. Mrs. Juliann Palm read the "Legend Of The Poinsettia."

Mrs. Palm introduced the speakers for the evening, Mrs. F. C. Tammany from Hungary, Mrs. David Chalmers from Scotland and Mrs. Guenther Meier from France. They explained the different religious customs they practice in their homelands.

Refreshments appropriate for the holidays were served by the hostess.

Social Hour Club Sets Dinner Meeting

Five Points United Methodist Social Hour Club will meet 7:30 p.m. Friday in the home of Mrs. Helen Phillips.

A covered-dish dinner will precede the meeting. All members are urged to attend.

Elastic Defense Doesn't Slow Cleveland

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Blanton Collier always seems to be overlooked in the Coach of the Year balloting but most experts will agree that there is none better than the old master at bringing a team up with a perfect plan for one specific game.

Ask the Baltimore Colts about 1964 when they were humiliated by Collier's Cleveland Browns 27-0. Recall last year's 31-20 upset of the Dallas Cowboys for the Eastern Conference title. Or just go back to Nov. 2 and the 42-10 shocker that sent Coach

Tom Landry and the Cowboys home muttering, "It was just a mess."

The Browns vary little in basics from the teams Paul Brown used to send into battle. It figures, of course, because Collier is a disciple of Brown's from the old days.

The big back now is Leroy Kelly, not Marion Motley or Jim Brown, and the passer is Bill Nelsen, not Otto Graham or even a patch off Otto Graham. But they do a solid job.

Landry once compared the Browns' defense to "a rubber-band that stretches but doesn't break." Although the Cleveland players don't appreciate the compliment, it fits.

They rank in the bottom half in defense, yield plenty of yardage but usually dig in hold. They have been particularly vulnerable to the run this season.

After Nelsen had shredded the Cowboys' shaky pass defense for five touchdowns in that 42-10 game, the quarterback revealed he had told his linemen the night before, "Give me three or 3½ seconds and I'll get the pass-ess off."

Nelsen's protection, except in the disaster against Minnesota and in the finale in New York, has been sensational. He has been dumped less than any other quarterback.

The front wall of Dick Schaff-rath, John Demarie, Fred Hoaglin, Gene Hickerson and Monte Clark do an excellent job of pass blocking. The two guards, Hickerson and Demarie, and also the tackles occasionally pull to lead Kelly on his famous sweeps.

Collier likes to run the ball, establishing his ground game before he starts to probe with his passes. With a back like Kelly, who got off to a slow start this year because a pulled hamstring in the opener, the Browns usually can make the opposition stay in the trenches.

Kelly came out of the season finale with a slight ankle sprain but should be ready.

Many pro football men believe that the Browns' trio of receivers, Paul Warfield, Gary Collins and Milt Morin, are the best group in the league.

The Browns live in constant fear of another injury to Nelsen, who operates on two bad knees, both of which carry the scars of surgery. They try to protect him from the rush and were able to handle the Cowboys' publicized Dooomsday Defense in their first meeting.

Nelsen has had a pinched nerve in a shoulder and bruised ribs but he keeps coming back for more. If anything happens to Nelsen, the Browns would go to Jerry Rhyme, picked up from Dallas last May.

Nobody has any trick names for the front four of the Browns yet they do a job, sacking a quarterback now and then. Ron Snidow and Jack Gregory are the ends and Walt Johnson and Jim Kanicki or Marvin Upshaw are the tackles.

Collier shuffled his linebackers during the season. He opened with Jim Houston, the defensive captain, on the left side, Bob Matheson in the middle and Dale Lindsey on the right side. He switched Lindsey to the middle spot and moved John Garlington, a fast, aggressive second year man from Louisiana State into the right side job.

A preseason knee injury to Ben Davis put the cornerback out for the year and forced a quick readjustment in the deep defense. The veteran Erich Barnes, still as rough as ever, plays the left corner and rookie Walt Sumner of Florida State, has taken Davis' job. The Cowboys can be expected to work on him.

Don Cockroft, the only man in the league who doubles as punter and field goal kicker, has had an ordinary year. He has made only 10 of 21 field goal attempts and is punting well below a 40-yard average. In the final game the Browns tried Gary Collins as a punter.

If the Browns get past Dallas Sunday, they will play either Minnesota, a team that bombed them 51-3 in midseason or Los Angeles, a team they haven't faced since an August exhibition, won by the Browns 10-3.

Of the teams competing in the playoffs, only the Browns won't be playing in the same conference next year. They shift over to the American Division with Baltimore and Pittsburgh and want to leave their mark with their old playmates.

Gabriel, Kapp To Lead West In Pro Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Quarterbacks Roman Gabriel of Los Angeles and Joe Kapp of Minnesota today were named to guide the West against the East in the 20th annual Pro Bowl football game Jan. 18 in Memorial Coliseum.

Eight Minnesota vikings and seven Rams were selected on the 34-man team by National Football League coaches and the game management.

Gabriel, recently voted by The Associated Press as Most Valuable Player in the NFL, will be making his third straight appearance in the Pro Bowl. He relieved Earl Morrall of Baltimore last year and led the West to a 10-7 victory.

This will be Kapp's first appearance.

Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears, voted Back of the Game in 1967 and 1968, missed last year's game because of a knee injury but will be on hand for the 1970 engagement.

Only Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns won three such awards.

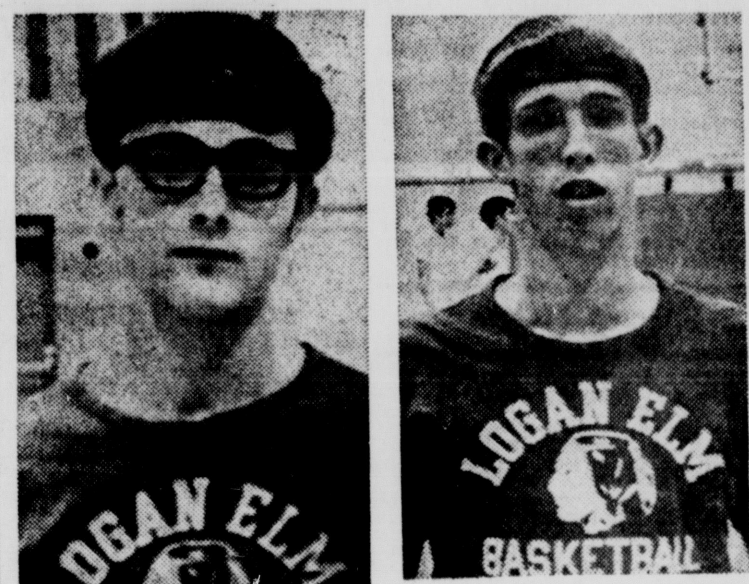

Veteran of the West team will be linebacker Maxie Baughan of the Rams, who will be making his ninth appearance. Only Johnny Unitas and Gino Marchetti of the Baltimore Colts and Leo Nomellini of the San Francisco 49ers, with 10 appearances, rate ahead of Baughan.

In addition to Kapp, the Vikings selected were Gene Washington, Grady Alderman, Mick Tingelhoff, Carl Eller, Jim Marshall, Alan Page and Paul Krause.

Other Rams named were Deacon Jones, Merlin Olsen, Charlie Cowan, Bob Brown and Tom Mack.

The West leads in the series, 12 victories to seven for the East.

Celtics Whip Chicago Bulls; Win, 117-112

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach Dick Motta of the Chicago Bulls arrived late for the game with the Boston Celtics and left early. Maybe he shouldn't have come at all.

Motta overslept at his motel Tuesday night after rejoining his National Basketball Association team in Boston after a scouting trip, and got to Boston Garden at 4:06 of the second period. He capped the evening by getting two technical fouls and automatic expulsion from referee Jack Madden and left the game with 3:35 left to play.

To make matters worse, Chicago lost 117-112 and dropped out of second place in the Western Division. San Francisco beat Seattle 119-115 and bounced back into second position, a full game ahead of the Bulls and five games behind idle Atlanta. San Diego beat Los Angeles 115-109 in the only other NBA game.

In the American Basketball Association, Pittsburgh defeated Kentucky 105-100, Carolina whipped the New York Nets 125-104 and Denver beat Dallas 102-96.

Howell and Havlicek topped Boston scoring with 26 points apiece but Chicago's Bob Weiss, starting for injured Jerry Sloan, led all scoring with 30.

Logan Elm will play Eastern in the second game of the holiday tournament Friday at Eastern. The first game will pit Western and Southeastern, beginning at 7 p.m.

Eastern is located on Route 124 in Pike County. LE coach Chuch Pritchard recommends that fans traveling to the tournament take Route 23 south through Piketon. Just below Piketon, turn east on Route 124.

Eastern is located on the right side of the road west of Beaver. Fans will be able to see the school from the road.

SPORTS Highlights

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Browns offensive coach Nick Skorich says full-back Bo Scott earned a start against Dallas Sunday by his "fine job against the Giants."

Skorich says Scott's improvement the latter part of the season stemmed from becoming familiar with the Cleveland system.

Scott says it's because he got to play more.

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Madison square Garden officials say they are close to signing a deal that will put the world's two heavyweight champions Joe Frazier and Jimmy Ellis in the same ring Feb. 16 in New York.

"Terms will be revealed Monday," said Harry Markson, president of Madison Square Garden Boxing.

Notre Dame has beaten Pitt football teams six straight times and the prish hold a 24-11-1 edge in the series.

Nelsen's protection, except in the disaster against Minnesota and in the finale in New York, has been sensational. He has been dumped less than any other quarterback.

The front wall of Dick Schaffrath, John Demarie, Fred Hoaglin, Gene Hickerson and Monte Clark do an excellent job of pass blocking. The two guards, Hickerson and Demarie, and also the tackles occasionally pull to lead Kelly on his famous sweeps.

Collier likes to run the ball, establishing his ground game before he starts to probe with his passes. With a back like Kelly, who got off to a slow start this year because a pulled hamstring in the opener, the Browns usually can make the opposition stay in the trenches.

Kelly came out of the season finale with a slight ankle sprain but should be ready.

Many pro football men believe that the Browns' trio of receivers, Paul Warfield, Gary Collins and Milt Morin, are the best group in the league.

The Browns live in constant fear of another injury to Nelsen, who operates on two bad knees, both of which carry the scars of surgery. They try to protect him from the rush and were able to handle the Cowboys' publicized Domsday Defense in their first meeting.

Nelsen has had a pinched nerve in a shoulder and bruised ribs but he keeps coming back for more. If anything happens to Nelsen, the Browns would go to Jerry Rhome, picked up from Dallas last May.

Nobody has any trick names for the front four of the Browns yet they do a job, sacking a quarterback now and then. Ron Snidow and Jack Gregory are the ends and Walt Johnson and Jim Kanicki or Marvin Upshaw are the tackles.

Collier shuffled his linebackers during the season. He opened with Jim Houston, the defensive captain, on the left side, Bob Matheson in the middle and Dale Lindsey on the right side. He switched Lindsey to the middle spot and moved John Garlington, a fast, aggressive second year man from Louisiana State into the right side job.

A preseason knee injury to Ben Davis put the cornerback out for the year and forced a quick readjustment in the deep defense. The veteran Erich Barnes, still as rough as ever, plays the left corner and rookie Walt Sumner of Florida State, has taken Davis' job. The Cowboys can be expected to work on him.

Don Cockroft, the only man in the league who doubles as punter and field goal kicker, has had an ordinary year. He has made only 10 of 21 field goal attempts and is punting well below a 40-yard average. In the final game the Browns tried Gary Collins as a punter.

If the Browns get past Dallas Sunday, they will play either Minnesota, a team that bombed them 51-3 in midseason or Los Angeles, a team they haven't faced since an August exhibition, won by the Browns 10-3.

Of the teams competing in the playoffs, only the Browns won't be playing in the same conference next year. They shift over to the American Division with Baltimore and Pittsburgh and want to leave their mark with their old playmates.

Gabriel, Kapp To Lead West In Pro Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Quarterbacks Roman Gabriel of Los Angeles and Joe Kapp of Minnesota today were named to guide the West against the East in the 20th annual Pro Bowl football game Jan. 18 in Memorial Coliseum.

Eight Minnesota Vikings and seven Rams were selected on the 34-man team by National Football League coaches and the game management.

Gabriel, recently voted by The Associated Press as Most Valuable Player in the NFL, will be making his third straight appearance in the Pro Bowl. He relieved Earl Morrall of Baltimore last year and led the West to a 10-7 victory.

This will be Kapp's first appearance.

Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears, voted Back of the Game in 1967 and 1968, missed last year's game because of a knee injury but will be on hand for the 1970 engagement.

Only Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns won three such awards.

Veteran of the West team will be linebacker Maxie Baughan of the Rams, who will be making his ninth appearance. Only Johnny Unitas and Gino Marchetti of the Baltimore Colts and Leo Nomellini of the San Francisco 49ers, with 10 appearance, rate ahead of Baughan.

In addition to Kapp, the Vikings selected were Gene Washington, Grady Alderman, Mick Tingelhoff, Carl Eller, Jim Marshall, Alan Page and Paul Krause.

Other Rams named were Deacon Jones, Merlin Olsen, Charlie Cowan, Bob Brown and Tom Mack.

The West leads in the series, 12 victories to seven for the East.

Rams Brace For Cold

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings and Los Angeles Rams wasted little time in touching off a psychological battle for Saturday's Western Conference playoff in the National Football League.

George Allen, Rams coach, stepped off a chartered jet Tuesday night after the Los Angeles arrival and said:

"A little snow never hurt anybody. And it feels a lot warmer than 11 degrees."

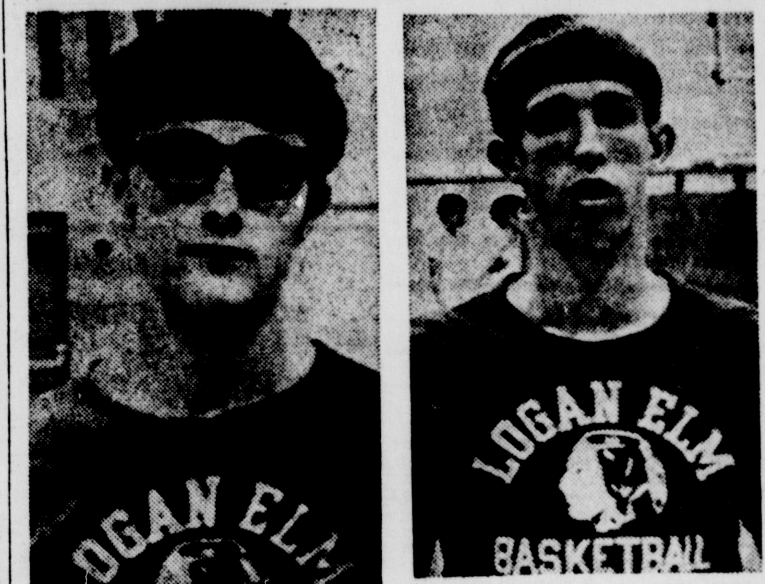

The Rams are in the Twin Cities early to attempt to get used to the weather, which is expected to be in the 20-degree range with a slight chance of snow by gametime. It was 70 degrees when they left the West Coast.

Minnesota Coach Bud Grant, meanwhile, said Minnesota's preparation "has been animal-like. By the time the weather gets cold an animal's fur has gotten thicker. We're the same way."

St. Louis Blues Beat North Stars ST. LOUIS (AP) — Gary Sabourin and Ab McDonald pulled the St. Louis Blues out of a deficit situation in the third period Tuesday night and Bill McCrory and Frank St. Marseille added goals 24 seconds apart to give St. Louis a 5-3 National Hockey League victory over the Minnesota North Stars.

It was the only league action.

IN EASTERN CONFERENCE PLAYOFF—Before a packed house in Dallas, the Dallas Cowboys, champs of the Capitol division of the NFL, tangle with the Cleveland Browns, champs of the Century division, Sunday, December 28, in a battle of passers and receivers. The Browns' top guns are quarterback Bill Nelsen, receiver Gary Collins and running star Leroy Kelly. The Cowboys feature quarterback Craig Morton and receivers Lance Rentzel and Bob Hayes. In their previous meeting this year Browns whipped Cowboys, 42 to 10.

Celtics Whip Chicago Bulls; Win, 117-112

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Coach Dick Motta of the Chicago Bulls arrived late for the game with the Boston Celtics and left early. Maybe he shouldn't have come at all.

Motta overslept at his motel Tuesday night after rejoining his National Basketball Association team in Boston after a scouting trip, and got to Boston Garden at 4:06 of the second period. He capped the evening by getting two technical fouls and automatic expulsion from referee Jack Madden and left the game with 3:35 left to play.

To make matters worse, Chicago lost 117-112 and dropped out of second place in the Western Division. San Francisco beat Seattle 119-115 and bounced back into second position, a full game ahead of the Bulls and five games behind idle Atlanta. San Diego beat Los Angeles 115-109 in the only other NBA game.

In the American Basketball Association, Pittsburgh defeated Kentucky 105-100, Carolina whipped the New York Nets 125-104 and Denver beat Dallas 102-96.

Howell and Havlicek topped Boston scoring with 26 points apiece but Chicago's Bob Weiss, starting for injured Jerry Sloan, led all scoring with 30.

Braves Face Tourney Hosts

Logan Elm will play Eastern in the second game of the holiday tournament Friday at Eastern. The first game will pit Western and Southeastern, beginning at 7 p.m.

Eastern is located on Route 124 in Pike County. LE coach Chuch Pritchard recommends that fans traveling to the tournament take Route 23 south through Piketon. Just below Piketon, turn east on Route 124.

Eastern is located on the right side of the road west of Beaver. Fans will be able to see the school from the road.

SPORTS Highlights

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Browns offensive coach Nick Skorich says full-back Bo Scott earned a start against Dallas Sunday by his "fine job against the Giants."

Skorich says Scott's improvement the latter part of the season stemmed from becoming familiar with the Cleveland system.

Scott says it's because he got to play more.

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Madison square Garden officials say they are close to signing a deal that will put the world's two heavyweight champions Joe Frazier and Jimmy Ellis in the same ring Feb. 16 in New York.

"Terms will be revealed Monday," said Harry Markson, president of Madison Square Garden Boxing.

Notre Dame has beaten Pitt football teams six straight times and the Irish hold a 24-11-1 edge in the series.

UCLA Wipes Out LSU, 133-84

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Pistol Pete Maravich faced the UCLA firing squad Tuesday night and the Bruins let him have both barrels.

The barrels were named Henry Bibby and John Vallely and they combined to limit the Louisiana State hotshot to 38 points — he was averaging 46.6, best in the nation — as the second-ranked Bruins shattered the school scoring record with a lopsided 133-84 triumph.

"UCLA should join the NBA," gasped Maravich. "They'd fit right in. They're better than last year. They just blew us out. We didn't have a chance."

UCLA ripped off a 9-0 lead, boosted it to 69-40 at the half and breezed to its fifth consecutive victory. LSU is 6-2. While Bibby and Vallely were sticking closer to Maravich than his famed floppy socks, Curtis Rowe and Sidney Wicks were pacing a balanced Bruin attack with 23 points apiece.

"Our tactics were to pick up Maravich before he got across the midcourt line and double team him early," said Coach John Wooden.

The only other member of The Associated Press' Top Twenty to play Tuesday night was in action on the other side of Los Angeles. Twelfth-ranked Southern California combined a tight defense and hot shooting for a 95-59 rout of St. John's, which was fresh from a convincing triumph over ranked Davidson.

Alternating from a man-to-man to a zone, USC forced St. John's into 28 turnovers. It was all over when the Trojans ran off 16 straight points for an 81-48

Cincinnati Bearcats Defeat Dayton's Flyers, 64-62

By SAM DOBBINS
Associated Press Writer

Those magnificent basketball epics featuring the Cincinnati Bearcats and the Dayton Flyers are looking more and more like worn out reruns.

"There just doesn't seem to be any way for us to beat those guys," moaned Dayton University Coach Don Donohoe after viewing the Flyers' 14th consecutive whipping by the University of Cincinnati.

The Bearcats won Tuesday night's showing 64-62 after the Flyers muffed two chances to send the game into overtime.

The victory extended Cincinnati's won-loss domination over the arch-rival Flyers 32-21.

"Our freethrow shooting was bad (8-19) but we could still have won in spite of it had we not given the ball away when it meant everything to keep it," added Donohoe.

Dayton was tagged for two turnovers in the final minute in addition to mugging a couple of critical foul shots.

The Bearcats were behind six points with six minutes remaining but pulled ahead 64-61.

"We could have waited when we were six down, but we gained valuable experience by coming back," mused Bearcat Coach Tay Baker.

The Flyers, however, made it 64-62 with a freethrow, then missed two more shots at the foul line shortly before the buzzer drew the curtain.

Dayton also ran into difficulty when their two big men, George Jackson and George Janky, got into foul trouble. Janky, who fouled out with 11:50 remaining, got 14 points.

"I'm sure after all these years Dayton feels it has to make the big plays in the final moments and maybe it gets to them, but our kids didn't lose their poise," added Baker after his Bearcats rolled to their fifth victory in six starts. Dayton is 4-2.

Cincinnati's Jim Ard took scoring honors with 26 points and Kenny May topped the Flyers with 22.

There were only two other games involving Ohio teams on the college basketball card Tuesday night.

Xavier, unable to cope with Niagara's high scoring Calvin Murphy, lost 91-83 and Kent State won its home opener 77-69 over Duquesne.

Murphy, the nation's No. 2 scorer, pumped in 36 points, 23 in the first half, and passed off beautifully in the second as Niagara (7-0) outran Xavier's zone defense.

Jerry Helmers scored 34 points to lead Xavier, which has only one victory in eight starts. Kent State squandered a 14-point lead after holding a 41-31 halftime advantage and then recovered to sail on to their third victory against three losses.

Roger Evans, who ended up with 14 points, scored seven in the second half and dominated the boards to pull Kent out of the fire. Duquesne (4-4) was paced by 23 points from Garry Nelson.

Morgenthau Uncertain About Future

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau, resigning under pressure of a White House ultimatum, says he has "no political ambitions at this time" and no immediate plans beyond a vacation with his wife.

Morgenthau, the unsuccessful Democratic gubernatorial candidate in 1962, announced Monday that he was resigning effective Jan. 15 rather than fight President Nixon's ultimatum to resign or be fired.

In an interview later he assessed his political future by saying that his prosecutions of corruption in government had not endeared him with Democratic party leaders.

Morgenthau, 50, did not offer "the customary resignation when Nixon took office last January but remained as U.S. attorney for the Southern District of New York, where he has served more than eight years."

Last Wednesday a hand delivered letter from Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell asked for his resignation. The President named former Sen. Whitely Seymour Jr. a Republican, to replace Morgenthau.

At first Morgenthau hinted that he might fight the ouster but Monday he said that as a result of the White House announcement he could no longer do his job effectively.

He thanked Mayor John V. Lindsay, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and U.S. Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Charles E. Goodell—all Republicans—for their support of his fight to remain in the office.

Jurgensen, Nelson Direct East Game

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sonny Jurgensen of Washington's Redskins and Bill Nelson of the Cleveland Browns will direct the offense of the East for the 20th annual National Football League Pro Bowl game Jan. 18.

African Nations Gain Power Through U.N. Assembly

By ILMU TOROS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant has called the 24th session of the General Assembly "an assembly of the poor against the rich, the weak against the strong, the young against the old."

It was chiefly the Africans who made it so. Much to big power discomfort, they blocked anything that didn't please them and had all their points gain U.N. acceptance. An experienced U.N. watcher remarked: "Once Africans had a lot of bark, but no bite. They're getting it now." The 126-nation world forum, approaching its quarter-century mark, seems at times to be slipping into the grip of black diplomats from the emerging continent. Their influence ranges from Swaziland's barefooted lobbying diplomats, in their red togas with bone necklaces, to Liberia's Miss Angie Brooks, president of the General Assembly who wears a turban and a flowing African robe. Only about 20 years ago, African states at the United Nations numbered three—Ethiopia, Liberia and Egypt. They were invited to the meetings of the Asian group mainly out of courtesy. Now 40 countries represent the continent. They outnumber the Asians and on vital issues often split with them. When united on an issue they can stifle any important item by any power in the General Assembly. When they unite with the 30-member Asian group of the 23-nation Latin bloc, no combination of alliances can block the Africans from ramming a resolution through the assembly.

Braille Storybook For Youngsters Proves Success

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Unlike most Christmas storybooks for children, "Expectations" is printed on presses that use no ink and checked for errors by readers who cannot read, with their eyes.

It's a storybook in braille for blind youngsters.

Some 4,000 copies of "Expectations" have been requested from the Braille Institute of America, Inc., which compiled it. The hefty volume contains six complete contemporary books for children, plus modern stories and poems.

Betty Kalagian, editor of the volume, said the institute is making it available to blind children in grades three through six. The $5 per volume cost is being covered by donations.

The inspiration for Santa Claus was St. Nicholas, bishop of Myra in Asia Minor in the 4th Century who was noted for his charitable gifts to the poor, especially to children.

East Germans Set 'Minimum' Treaty

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany told West Germany Tuesday that the draft treaty it presented to Bonn to sign constitutes the minimum — not the maximum — required if better relations are to develop between the two Germans.

East German President Walter Ulbricht sent the draft treaty to West German President Gustav Heinemann last week and proposed that negotiations on it begin in January. West German Chancellor Willy Brandt is expected to send a representative to East Berlin next month to sound out the possibility of scaling down the Communists' demands.

Judge Rules Negro Burial Is Required

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge has ruled that the family of a young Negro soldier killed in Vietnam cannot legally be denied the right to bury him in an all-white cemetery.

Citing a civil rights law more than a century old, Judge Seymour Lynne held that Elmwood Cemetery rules limiting burials to Caucasians "are void and of no legal effect."

The ruling came in an action brought by the mother and widow of Army Pfc. Bill Terry, 20, killed on a combat mission July 3.

They said he had expressed a desire to be buried in Elmwood "which can be seen from the family home—if he should die in Vietnam, but that the cemetery refused on July 14 to sell them a lot.

Judge Lynne said an 1866 civil rights law provides that "all citizens of the United States" shall have the same right "as is enjoyed by white citizens there of to inherit, purchase, lease, sell, hold, and convey real and personal property."

Terry's widow, Margaret and mother, Mrs. Jimmy Lee Terry, testified they would exhume his remains and transfer them to Elmwood if the court ruled in their favor.

Rogers Says U.S. Mideast Plan Fair

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers strongly defended the controversial U.S. proposals for a Middle East peace Tuesday and specifically rejected an Israeli charge that they amounted to "appeasement of the Arabs."

Rogers also said "we have reason to be cautiously optimistic" about the eventual success of the effort to have South Vietnam take over its own defense.

Rogers told a news conference that North Vietnamese infiltration into the South is down at least 60 per cent this year from last. But he declined to predict whether a recent upswing in North Vietnamese troop movements into the South foreshadowed another enemy offensive.

The secretary of state gave a general year end sum up of the international picture which he found improved despite some disappointments.

"I think on the whole the President can be proud of his leadership in the foreign affairs field," Rogers said.

But one important area where admittedly little progress has been made is in efforts to settle the Arab-Israeli dispute—and Washington's new proposals aimed at finding a peaceful solution have been rebuffed by both sides.

Then, they feel they can use their numerical superiority to have the United Nations serve their economic and political aims. When economic aid or political agreements carry U.N. approval major powers may be hesitant in raising objections—although their money chiefly supports U.N. operations.

NEW YORK (AP) — An old-fashioned suspense thriller with an improbable plot, gorgeous Spanish backgrounds, black-died villains, murder and money was the "Movie of the Week" contribution to TV entertainment Tuesday night.

Janet Leigh starred in "Honey-moon with a Stranger," playing the American bride of a Spanish millionaire. The happy couple arrives at a crumbling old palace for their honeymoon. Then the bride awakens alone the next morning, and after two days reports her husband's disappearance to police. Thereupon his family lawyer arrives with a man introduced as her missing husband. She screams that he is a stranger whom she has never seen before.

After this titillating start, the plot thickened to a point where it was impossible to wind up the story with a plausible solution, but the one that was used was ingenious and a surprise. Rosseno Brazzi was appealing as a bewildered and morose policeman, Janet Leigh, convincing as the bewildered bride, also was pretty good as a mad-woman. It was fun and a fast 90 minutes.

Earlier, the durable and delightful Maurice Evans played an irresistible con man in a light-hearted "Mod Squad" episode. Posing as a retired rear admiral, the lovable villain fleeced suckers with promises of instant wealth. In the story, his crimes paid—a unique and vivid way of making the point that a con man can fleece only those with larceny in their hearts.

When Eleanor Parker, perhaps with her role in NBC's "Bracken's World," decided to quit the show, the producer was in a spot that often confronts producers of daytime serials. It was handled in soap-opera style: they wrote her part out.

In an episode to be broadcast early in January, Sylvia—the powerful executive secretary of the studio head, Miss Parker's role—will suddenly resign to get married. Dennis Cole, who has been playing a stuntman in the series, will suddenly be promoted to Bracken's administrative assistant, and Betty Ackerman will join the cast playing Bracken's new executive secretary.

Cole played a young detective for a couple of seasons in "Perry Squad" and Miss Ackerman's last regular TV role was as a woman doctor in "Ben Casey."

Nobody plays Bracken. An associate producer of the series explained that the head of a major film studio is such a powerful figure that he would dwarf all the other characters.

There will be much music on television late Christmas Eve and NBC will cover the mid-night Mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral. A Christmas Day special will be an hour concert (4:30-5:30 p.m. EST) on CBS with pianist Emil Gilels and cellist Mstislav Rostropovich playing Tchaikovsky.

Van Wert GI Faces Jail

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It looks like Christmas with the family, but New Year's in the Columbus Workhouse or the U.S. Army for Pvt. Thomas L. Poling of Van Wert.

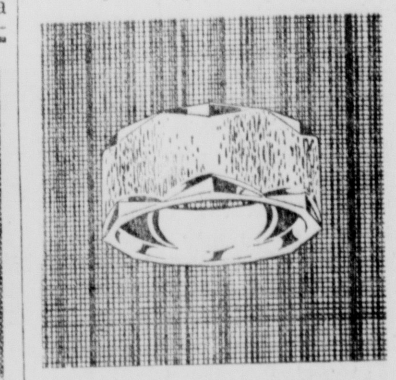

"You go home and spend Christmas with your family and report back to the clerk of courts here at 12 noon Monday," U.S. District Court Judge Joseph P. Kinneary told Poling.

Poling has been in the workhouse since Nov. 5 when he turned himself in to Army authorities who wanted him for being absent without leave. He claims he was called to active duty without first having a discharge. Poling had been in the Ohio National Guard, but moved to California and reportedly never got back in a reserve unit.

Kinneary, upon learning Poling could not be moved from the workhouse before Christmas announced he was withholding a decision until Monday, Dec. 29.
